

President Calls On Congress For A Big Boost In Taxation

Higher Taxes on Corporations And Individuals Are Sought by Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—President Truman today called on Congress to boost taxes this session by "very much more" than the $8,000,000,000 combined total of the last two increases.

The President, in his annual economic message, notified the lawmakers that the nation's security will demand lending and spending authority totalling $140,000,000,000 for this fiscal year and next. The present fiscal year runs out next July 1.

Mr. Truman said it should be the first principle of policy to "maintain a balanced budget, and to finance the cost of national defense on a 'pay-as-we-go' basis." He added:

"Corporations should pay much higher taxes. Individuals should pay much higher taxes. Excise taxes should be higher and more extensive."

Mr. Truman said new tax proposals soon would be submitted to Congress carrying these recommendations as well as recommendations for closing "many loopholes" in present tax laws.

The President also informed Congress that staffs are being rapidly gathered to apply "broader controls" over prices and wages.

"Hold Price Line"

"In the case of prices," he said, "the general policy must be to hold the price line with utmost vigor."

He asked that the Department of Agriculture be "granted authority to control speculative trading and to strengthen its regulation of commodity exchanges."

As he did in last Monday's state of the union message, the President emphasized the great threat from Communist aggression.

He said "large and menacing forces" led by Russia are "arrayed against the free world."

"The great manpower under the control of Soviet communism is being driven with fanatic zeal to build up military and industrial strength," he continued. "We invite disaster if we underestimate the forces working against us."

The $140,000,000,000 figure used by Mr. Truman does not necessarily mean the government will spend that much in the two years ending July 1, 1952.

The funds may be committed over several years ahead and Mr. (Please turn to page 6, Column 2)

Lecture on Fire Chasing Evils

SALEM, Ill., Jan. 12.—(P)—Attendance was good at a lecture here on the evils of fire chasing. Everyone was right on time, too. Fire trucks had to detour around a crowd of onlookers who beat them to a blaze Wednesday night. Police and firemen put their heads together. What could be done about it?

A false fire alarm was turned in. Sirens screaming, fire trucks raced into a dead-end street. Interested motorists followed. Then came the police who blocked off the street behind them.

The fire chasers got a scolding—and a warning that the next time they chased a fire engine it would mean a fine.

Banquet For Democrats

Expect Over 1,200 At Jackson Day Event Saturday

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 12.—(P)—Democratic leaders and party followers from over the state were gathering here today for their annual Jackson day banquet tomorrow night.

While the banquet is the big event, it's sharing the spotlight this year with a stag buffet supper tonight for Governor Forest Smith.

And the supper—given by three Springfield Democratic leaders—is credited with attracting a record number of Missouri Democrats to the Jackson day event.

"It isn't often," remarked a party stalwart here, "that the party's 'littlewigs' get a chance to bend a cruller and knock off a canape with the boss."

"The boss," of course is Governor Smith, who is due to arrive here this afternoon. The supper is being given by Roger Taylor and Denton Smith, colonels on his staff, and Circuit Judge William R. Collinson.

Tomorrow's program calls for informal political confabs, a reception in the afternoon and the banquet tomorrow night.

McGrath Chief Speaker

Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath will be the principal speaker at the banquet. He'll leave Washington by train tonight, will be met at St. Louis tomorrow afternoon by Springfield Democrats and flown here in time for the banquet.

J. Howard Hannah, chairman of the Jackson day celebration for the Greene county Democratic central committee, predicts an attendance of from 1200 to 1500 persons at the banquet.

At least five Missouri congressmen and Senator Thomas C. Hennings have hotel reservations here for the Jackson day pow-wow. A. S. J. Carnahan of Elsinore and Clare Magee of Unionville are due in Springfield by plane Saturday afternoon. Morgan Moulder of Camden, Phil J. Welch of St. Joseph and Paul Jones of Kennett also have reservations.

Governor Smith's entourage will include state Attorney-General J. E. Taylor, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Charles L. Henson of the State Public Service Commission and state Treasurer M. E. Morris.

James Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic leader, plans to bring about 40 guests here in two chartered planes, according to chairman Hannah.

Former Senator Ricketts Dead

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 12.—(P)—Claude B. Ricketts, 73, a former state senator, died today at Deaconess hospital from the effects of a paralytic stroke suffered January 1. He had been in semi-retirement since July, 1946.

Ricketts, a real estate man, had a long career in public life. A Republican, he was elected to the lower house of the Legislature in 1928. In 1942 he was elected state senator from the old 33rd district.

He served on a bi-partisan board named by Gov. Henry S. Caulfield to study school and correctional institutions. The board's work brought about many improvements in the state school system and in eleemosynary and penal institutions.

Toward the close of his senatorial term, Ricketts was active in attempting to obtain state approval of a Missouri valley authority.

Surviving are his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Bert Macchling.

Increase Goal of Military

Senators Told 260,000 More in Manpower Will Be Required

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Senators were told today that President Truman had increased the June 30 manpower goal for the nation's fighting forces by about 260,000.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg testified that Mr. Truman had approved raising the armed forces strength to 3,462,305 by that date or "at the earliest possible moment."

The previous June 30 target was 3,200,000 men, although Mr. Truman has talked of having 3,500,000 in the next year or two. Mrs. Rosenberg made her announcement as she and top ranking Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine officers appeared before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee to urge drafting of 18-year-olds.

Mrs. Rosenberg said she had just received a telephone call from Secretary of Defense Marshall informing her of the higher total for the armed services.

Is Approved Today

"The joint chiefs of staff requested it yesterday," Mrs. Rosenberg said. "The secretary of defense and the President approved it this morning."

The proposal for drafting 18-year-olds was running into some opposition in the Senate group. Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) demanded that defense officials "prove their case" for such a step.

"So far they have not convinced me that the present draft law, with some amendments, is not enough," Saltonstall told a reporter.

The law now requires registration of all men of 18 but restricts actual induction to those 19 through 25 years old. The Defense Department wants the age minimum lowered by one year to help meet the accelerated preparedness program.

Saltonstall is one of the senior Republicans on the Senate preparedness subcommittee.

Wants No More Disability Checks

SUFFOLK, Va., Jan. 12.—(P)—A disabled veteran who was a ditch digger before the war and whom the government assisted in learning to be a butcher says he doesn't want any more disability checks from the government.

He has even returned two checks totaling $126.40.

"Now I feel like the government has done enough for me, especially with so many fellows coming back from Korea all shot up," he says.

The veteran declined use of his name. He told a reporter he was afraid people would think he was "grateful."

"There are enough of us sucking the country dry, and it's time we stopped sucking and started giving," he told the reporter who looked him up.

Strike Halts Work At A Shipyard

BEAUMONT, Tex., Jan. 12.—(P)—Work in the Bethlehem shipyards here stopped this morning because of a strike of about 500 employees asking higher wages.

No violence was reported. About 250 workers lined the curbs across the entrance from the yards this morning as two pickets began walking.

Gunman is Sought as Suspect

McCOOK, Nebr., Jan. 12.—(P)—A fleeing gunman who officers think could be the elusive desperado William E. (Bill) Cook was the object of a Nebraska manhunt today.

The gunman wounded a deputy sheriff near here yesterday in a running gun battle. The fugitive's car was spotted again last night at Wauneta, fifty miles west of here in the southwest corner of the state. He was believed headed east.

In Lincoln, state safety patrol Lt. Dan Casey said "there is a strong possibility" that the gunman is Cook, ex-convict sought in a man hunt covering the southwest. Casey said the available description, though meager, and the tactics of the Nebraska gunman fitted those of Cook.

Red Willow county sheriff Emmet Trosper said the fugitive's car was covered with red mud. That might indicate, he said, that the vehicle had been driven a long distance through the southwest.

The officer who pursued the gunman was Trosper's deputy, Fran Dolan of McCook. He saw the man break a car window in a used car lot early yesterday. The man fled in his own car and Dolan followed.

At speeds up to 95 miles an hour, the two traded shots until Dolan's car went into the ditch. Dolan was slightly injured by shotgun pellets.

A state-wide alarm for the gunman followed.

The hunt for Cook was centered in California and Mexico. There have been tips and clues from New Mexico and Colorado.

In Oklahoma, Cook has been charged with murder and kidnapping in the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mosser and their three small children of Atwood, Ill.

Dimes Appeal Opens Monday

All Out Drive Run Little Over Two Weeks

With the opening date of the 1951 March of Dimes only three days off, Scott Webber, county campaign director, today called upon all residents "to join the all-out drive for funds needed to stem the rising tide of polio."

"The 1951 March of Dimes begins next Monday," Mr. Webber said, "and lasts a little over two weeks. But in that short time we can help thousands upon thousands of polio patients for whom recovery is measured in terms of ten or 20 or 50 weeks if not longer. I think we owe them the two weeks of our own efforts. It is little enough—if we can save some child from a lifetime of paralysis."

Mr. Webber disclosed that more than 100,000 people were stricken by polio in the years '48-'50, with four out of five of them receiving help in whole or in part from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, on whose behalf the March of Dimes is conducted.

Draw On Fund

"Last fall," Mr. Webber said, "the National Foundation ran out of epidemic aid funds and had to call upon whatever chapters were still solvent to bolster its central epidemic emergency account, on behalf of chapters whose resources had been wiped out. From May through August of last year, chapters were drawing $1,000,000 a month from the epidemic aid fund."

Patient care, Mr. Webber emphasized, is but one phase of the fight against polio. The March of Dimes' most important job is to support scientific research aimed at finding a preventive cure for polio, and to undertake programs of professional education designed to provide for more skilled hands.

"Every dime, every dollar given to the March of Dimes," Mr. Webber said, "is needed as never before, if we are to win out over polio. I am sure Pettis county citizens will give, and give again, on behalf of all those children and adults who look to the March of Dimes for help when polio strikes."

Korean War Far From Being An Exclusive U. S. Affair

By DeWitt MacKenzie AF Foreign Affairs Analyst

Efforts to find a basis for settlement of the Korean war were rewarded from two important directions yesterday.

The United States accepted a United Nations committee plan for an immediate cease fire in Korea. This would be followed by negotiations on all far Eastern problems by America, Britain, Russia and Communist China.

Simultaneously the British Commonwealth conference of nine nations in London took action in effect backing this U. N. move. At Lake Success the measure was sponsored by Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Oddly enough this highly encouraging development had been preceded by an astonishing report from London that the Commonwealth conference had been considering proposing a parley between the United States and Red China to discuss a Korean settlement. The suggestion of such a bilateral conference immediately

String of Zeros Causes Concern

JONESBORO, Ark., Jan. 12.—(P)—President Truman's high financing program is causing plenty of concern among newspaper linotype operators here.

The machines which cast the metal slugs from which news pages are printed are devised to operate with a maximum of 21 zeroes in a channel for the size type used for a regular story. Most linotype machines have less than the maximum number of zeros.

Thus, when an operator tries to set a line such as "from $100,000,000,000 to $140,000,000,000," he must use the entire 21 zeros. If he has less than the maximum, his only choice is to spell out the figures.

Casualty List Has 670 New Casualties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—A Defense Department casualty list (No. 198) today identified 670 new casualties of the Korean war. The total included 498 missing in action, 46 killed or died of wounds, 87 wounded and 39 injured in accidents.

Urges Direct Usage For Price Control

CEA Recommends Income Tax Hike All Along Line

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—The President's council of economic advisers today urged prompt use of direct price-wage controls and said the output of autos and major household appliances may have to be cut this year by one-third to "well over one-half."

Warning that the country is "in the throes of a serious inflation," the three-man council also called for taxes "substantially higher, in some cases drastically higher, than have ever before been imposed in the United States."

It recommended income tax boosts all along the line but said "by far the largest part of the additional revenue must come from the middle and lower tax brackets." It said the bulk of the income is located in those brackets.

The group made its recommendations in a report accompanying Mr. Truman's economic message to Congress. Mr. Truman proposed a tax increase "very much more" than the $8,000,000,000 provided in the last two tax increases.

The council said new spending and lending authority for national security, already granted or anticipated, will approach $150,000,000 for this fiscal year and next, ending in mid-1952.

This ambitious program will require tax rates topping those of World War II on individuals and businesses alike, the council said, and these measures besides: "Drastic" price controls, swiftly imposed, and wage ceilings to match.

Regulation of margins on cotton, wheat and other exchanges, to curb speculation. International price and supply agreements affecting war materials like rubber and tin.

Possibly tougher credit controls. Bigger expansion than is now planned for steel and power production plants.

And, for industry, a war-style allocation plan for doling out basic metals to every company.

No Drafting of Women Now

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Defense officials disclosed today that the possibility of drafting women for the armed services had been discussed at the Pentagon—and discarded.

At the same time they told the Senate preparedness subcommittee that Congress will be asked to remove the present limit on the number of uniformed women in the services.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines now can have 2 per cent of their total forces as women—or about 70,000 under the new minimum goal of about 3,500,000.

None of the services has reached this total, the Army quota for the WACs is only about half filled.

Willing For Views Exchange

British Desire Is to Retain the Mastery of Their Own Affairs

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Prime ministers of the British Commonwealth announced tonight they "would welcome any feasible arrangement" for an exchange of views with Prime Minister Stalin or Chinese Communist leader Mao Tze-Tung.

In a joint declaration issued at the end of a nine-day conference here, the prime minister said: "We do not seek to intervene in the affairs of the Soviet Union or China or any other country; we are simply determined to retain the mastery of our own affairs without fear of aggression."

The prime ministers, representing nations spread over a quarter of the earth's surface, called for speedy settlements with Germany and Japan—obvious references to conclusion of peace treaties with those two enemy states.

"The wounds of the last war must be healed," the declaration said. Declaring that they were pledged to peace, the prime ministers said:

"It is our firm belief that the rule of law should govern human conduct and we are prepared to accept whatever sacrifices may be necessary to uphold with all other nations those principles of international law and order which are essential conditions for world peace and progress."

Tobey on Foreign Relations Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Senator Tobey of New Hampshire was named formally today to fill a coveted Republican seat on the Senate foreign relations committee.

Senator Ives (R-NY) told a reporter the appointment of Tobey, who is regarded generally as a backer of the administration's foreign policy objectives, was approved unanimously at a conference of all Republican senators.

Tobey won the foreign relations post on the basis of his length of Senate service, or seniority. His appointment was recommended yesterday by the GOP committee on committees—the group which handles assignments to the legislative committees.

"There was no controversy," Ives said. "There couldn't be because everything was done according to seniority."

Tobey's appointment appeared to give the Truman administration something to cheer about.

Draft Dodgers Being Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—The FBI said today it has investigated nearly 9,000 cases of alleged violations of the draft law during the last six months.

A report by Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed that the bureau is now receiving more than 2,200 such cases for inquiry every month.

Hoover said that in more than a third of the cases handled so far compliance with the law has been obtained through registration, induction, or otherwise.

The FBI's primary purpose is to get eligible men into the armed forces, not to bring about prosecution and jail sentences, Hoover said.

However, the director added that "wilful draft delinquents are being vigorously sought."

Pope's Edict Reaches Others

Applies to Lions, Kiwanis And Similar Clubs

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—A Vatican decree forbidding Catholic clergy to join Rotary International, it was explained today, applies equally to such similar organizations as Kiwanis, the Lions and other civic groups.

A member of the congregation of the Sacred office, which drew up the decree, said the document reiterated the church's preference that Catholic laymen and women associate themselves with Catholic church-sponsored or recommended organizations, such as the Knights of Columbus.

The member said the decree, published yesterday in the Vatican's "L'Osservatore Romano," is a general directive and neither a condemnation of Rotary nor an impediment to membership of Catholic laymen in the organization.

The decree was described as a general rule open, insofar as Catholic laymen are concerned, to local interpretation by bishops.

Thus, should a Rotary club in some particular area be considered to be influenced by Masonry, local bishops might decide to ask or order Catholics not to associate themselves with it. This would apply to "non-confessional" organizations other than Rotary.

The Vatican source said that the congregations decree mentioned Rotary only because it was drawn in answer to query concerning that organization, but that its general rule was equally applicable to all similar organizations.

Loses Both Feet; Parts of Hands

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 12.—(P)—The price comes high for Pvt. Hubert Reeves' bitter Korean war experiment. He'll lose both feet and parts of both hands.

Percy Jones Army hospital here scheduled the amputations to start today.

Frostbite blackened the 19-year-old Joliet, Ill., GI's hands and feet one frigid Korean night as he lay wounded after an attack by the Chinese Reds.

Brought to the hospital here, he was in agonizing pain for long days while doctors waited to see how much amputation would be necessary.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hubert Reeves, prayed it would be slight.

But yesterday the grim word came from Maj. Chester H. Davis, Percy Jones public information officer.

Maj. Davis said surgeons will amputate both feet above the ankle, all the fingers of the right hand to the second (middle) joint, and the fingers of the left hand back to the knuckles.

Action Was Near Wonju as Enemy Forces Wedge in Central Korea

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Jan. 12.—(P)—Blistering Allied air strikes and artillery barrages crumpled a Red Korean attack near Wonju today. But another Communist force striking 30 miles behind this Allied position threatened the entire United Nations stand in central Korea.

The deep-striking Red column skirted the American-French-Dutch line in the Wonju area. It fought several sharp clashes with Allied patrols on the approaches to Tanyang, 37 miles southeast of Wonju.

The flanking Reds set up a roadblock, mined a vital supply highway and poured a hail of small arms fire into an Allied force sent out to clear the route.

Two North Korean divisions—the Sixth and 10th—were ramming a deep wedge into the U. N. positions in central Korea. Possibly 20,000 Communist troops were in this force which was threatening the supply and withdrawal routes of the U. S. Second division and its French and Dutch supporting units making a fighting stand just south of Wonju.

Danger Lessened

The immediate peril in the Wonju area eased as daylight Allied air strikes and artillery barrages routed two Red Korean regiments which had seized a commanding height Thursday night.

This force, striking from the northeast, had cut across the Wonju-Chechon road, occupied the dominant hill and slammed a withering fire into the Allies' horseshoe-shaped defense perimeter just south of Wonju.

The fighting raged in foot-deep snow and bitter cold.

Allied planes including the big B-29 Superforts rarely used on tactical missions sowed heavy explosives and fragmentation bombs, machinegun fire and jellied gasoline into the Red positions.

Navy pilots from the carrier Philippine Sea seared the half-mile ridge with napalm firebombs. They killed an estimated 450 Reds. "They were trying to make an advance and we caught them," said Lt. (jg) Don Lorange, Hanford, Calif.

Second division artillery slammed a rain of steel at the Reds. Field dispatches said the artillery pounding wiped out part of Wonju.

Fled Into Hills

The Communists broke and fled into the northern hills at dusk. Allied troops then reoccupied the dominant height southeast of Wonju.

Truman Signs the Civil Defense Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—President Truman today signed the civil defense bill authorizing approximately $3,100,000,000 of air raid construction and other home front defense outlays.

In a statement, the President announced he will ask Congress soon to provide the initial cash to put the program into effect.

The law permits the federal government to provide matching grants to the states for air raid shelters. Mr. Truman said the responsibility for civil defense rests primarily in the states and their political subdivisions.

He called upon citizens everywhere to support civil defense in their own communities, adding: "It will require the best efforts of all of us to get ready and to stay ready to defend our homes."

Child Shot and Killed By Little Cousin

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—A three-year-old girl was shot and killed today with a revolver in the hands of her eight-year-old cousin.

The victim was Karen Jo Hayes, who was shot through the heart with a .32 caliber bullet. Police said the revolver was fired by Gilbert Gilmore who had found the weapon in a dresser drawer.

Both children were at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hurley. James T. Hayes, father of the girl, is a fingerprint technician at police headquarters.

Sgt. A. J. Rose Is Commended

Decorated With Ribbon by Col. R. H. Carmichael

M/Sgt. Albert J. Rose, Jr., son of Mrs. A. J. Rose, 512 East Tenth street, was decorated with the Commendation Ribbon for outstanding performance of duty in the Korean war by Col. Richard H. Carmichael, commanding officer.

A year ago M/Sgt. Rose was sent to Korea where he has since been stationed. He has been in service 11 years serving in World War II in both the Atlantic and Pacific areas.

A letter sent by Colonel Carmichael to M/Sgt. Rose's mother follows:

Headquarters 98th Bombardment Group, A. P. O. 328, December 24, 1950.

Dear Mrs. Rose,

On the 25th of November, 1950, it was my pleasure to decorate your son, M/Sgt. Albert J. Rose, Jr., with the Commendation Ribbon for outstanding performance of duty since his assignments to this station.

When the 98th Bombardment Group began their initial offensive against the North Koreans, the United Nations had a force comparable to the enemy in number, but definitely superior in military knowledge and equipment. Executing brilliant strategy, the United Nations swept the North Koreans back across the 38th parallel, the imaginary division between North and South Korea. Shortly after gaining the 38 parallel, the Chinese Communist intervened with enormous field armies which were known to be massed along the Manchuria border, only 150 miles away.

In view of an entirely different situation, the far outnumbered United Nations forces have been compelled to withdraw to new defensive positions. The 98th Bombardment group has lent its entire support to this unfortunate development.

It is gratifying and assuring to have men like your son assigned to my command during this critical period.

Sincerely yours,
Signed:
Richard H. Carmichael
Colonel, USAF
Commanding Officer.

"I HATED THE THOUGHT OF 'CHANGE OF LIFE' but Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proves wonderful to relieve hot flushes"

"I had heard so many tales about women going through 'change of life' which is usually between 38 and 52 years—I really dreaded reaching middle-age for fear I, like so many women, would suffer from hot flushes and nervous irritability due to this functional period peculiar to women. I tried to laugh it off but all of a sudden I found myself suffering from these embarrassing symptoms! Then believe it or not—my mother-in-law told me how wonderful Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is to relieve such symptoms. I started taking Pinkham's Compound and I find I get amazing relief from hot flushes and flighty, high-strung, nervous feelings—when due to this cause.

"In fact I take Pinkham's Compound regularly—to help build up resistance against such middle-age distress. I suggest if you suffer this way to give it a trial!" P.S. Pinkham's Compound tastes swell in fruit juice or water.

Longer Garment Life Through Care

Place garments on a hanger immediately when taken off. Air thoroughly before hanging in a clothes closet. This gives the fabric time to relax and revert to its normal condition.

William Scarlett of St. Louis, Bishop of Missouri, read the ceremony in the candle-lighted chancel which was decorated completely in white.

Mrs. Paul Winn sang the "Lord's Prayer," before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love," as the bridal couple knelt. James H. Bishop, at the organ played the wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by Dr. David L. Enloe. Her bridal gown, by Cahill of California, was of imported French Chantilly lace over antique ivory satin and tulle. Her long veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of imported hand-made lace. She carried a white satin prayer book on which was a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Dunlap was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Charlene Tweedie, Miss Margie Sue Burton, Miss Sally Eaton and Miss Gretchen Dorris were bridesmaids. Their gowns of white net and Chantilly lace were identical and they wore semi circles of red roses on the backs of their heads. They carried large bouquets of red roses.

Cynthia and Charles Hawkins III served as flower girl and acolyte. Cynthia's floor-length dress was patterned after that of the bridesmaids' and Charles wore a red acolyte's robe covered by a white surplice and lighted the candles on the altar before the ceremony.

Mr. James Clark of Hinsdale, Ill., served as Mr. Cole's best man. Groomsmen were his cousin, Mr. Sumter English of Richmond Heights, Mr. James McEllan, the Rev. William T. Gible and William H. Leedy, all of Jefferson City. Mrs. Dunlap wore a gold lame dress with hat and accessories of violet. Mrs. Cole chose an American beauty chiffon tissue faille dress and hat for her son's wedding. Both wore corsages of violets centered with a red rose.

After the reception, which was held immediately following the ceremony in the parish hall, the couple left for a two weeks' honeymoon in New Orleans, La. For traveling, the bride chose a cocoa brown dressmaker suit with rhinestone buttons, a hat of the same shade and dark brown accessories. On their return the Rev. and Mrs. Cole will be at home in the rectory on East High street.

He served with the Air Transport Command during World War II and after his return attended the Episcopal theological school in Cambridge, Mass. He has been rector of the Grace Episcopal church in Jefferson City since November 1949.

Among the guests from California who attended the wedding were: Walter Kuhlman, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Newton and sons, Bob and George, Mr. and Mrs. George Shore, Mrs. Erma Snorgaard, Miss Margaret Williams, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Latham, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Crawford.

Church Wedding In Cole Camp

At 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 26, before an estimated assembly of 550 persons, Miss Mildred Priesmeyer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Priesmeyer of Cole Camp, became the bride of Mr. Leroy Kullmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kullmann of Lincoln, in a candle light ceremony at St. Paul's American Lutheran church, Cole Camp. The Rev. H. Renz, pastor, officiated using the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with palms and red cedar. Preceding the ceremony, a brief interlude of organ music was played by Miss Ethelene Behrens. She also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Gerken, who sang, "Oh, Promise Me" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" following the ceremony. During the ceremony Miss Behrens played "Always" and used the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Miss Behrens wore a floor length gown of moss green satin with matching mitts and halo hat. The dress was identical to that of the bridesmaids. During the organ music the candles were lighted by Miss Sharon Kay Munsterman and Miss Joan Cossart, cousins of the bride. They wore identical gowns of pink satin over hoop skirts with matching mitts and halo hats.

The bridesmaids were, Miss Ethel Kullmann, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Irma Jagels and Miss Laverne Bohling. They wore identical gowns of moss green satin with matching mitts and halo hats. The yokes of the dresses were cut in a deep V which was dyed-to-match Chantilly lace cuffed in a wide band of the satin extending out beyond the shoulders. The full skirts were over hoops. They carried bronze mums tied with ribbons to match the dresses.

Miss Frieda Brunjes, maid of honor, wore an American Beauty satin dress fashioned identical to those of the bridesmaids, with matching mitts and halo hat and also carried bronze mums.

Donald Ehlers served as ring bearer. He was dressed in navy pants and with white shirt and bow tie. The rings were carried on a heart shaped satin pillow with a lace ruffle and streamers. Little Miss Shirley Ehlers, flower girl, wore an ice blue satin frock with lace bertha, matching mitts and a miniature veil of blue net, the ruffle on the cap of tulle was made of satin and lace matching the collar on her dress. She also carried bronze mums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bridal white satin. The tightly fitted basque bodice was fashioned with a draped bertha of nylon tulle, caught up with small satin wedding bells centered with a seed pearl. The gown was buttoned down the back with tiny satin covered buttons, the long tight sleeves tapered to a ruffle of tulle over the hand. The bouffant skirt was worn over hoops and was bordered at the hem and around the aisle length train with a fold of satin and wide trimmed with a twist of satin and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was of soft bridal bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Roland Kullmann served as best man with Earl Kullmann, Harold Bahrenburg and Leland Kerkis serving as groomsmen. Ushers were Robert Kullmann, Carl Kullmann, Raymond Schleselman and Donald Gerken.

The bride's mother wore a beige suit with brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a dark dress with black accessories. At 6:00 o'clock a wedding dinner was served cafeteria style at the Priesmeyer home to about 150 guests. The three-tier wedding cake was decorated with white garlands studded with silver beads, the garlands were held with pink rosettes flanked with sprigs of fern, nestled among the garlands were pairs of white doves. The cake flanked with lighted ivory tapers formed a centerpiece for the table.

Open house was held at 8:00 o'clock and was attended by approximately 1,000 persons. The couple left that night for a brief wedding trip in the Ozarks. The bride is a graduate of Cole Camp high school, class of 1950. Until recently she has been associated with the Friendly cafe, which was formerly owned and operated by her parents. Daughter Agrees That "Mother Knows Best"

Folks in the city and in the country often disagree on many things, but they all nod their heads in agreement when they hear the familiar quotation, "Mother knows best." Mothers seem to have a way of knowing what is best for their sons and daughters. For example, Mrs. R. H. Holder, 221 Columbus, Montgomery, Ala., certainly agrees with this, for at one time Mrs. Holder was nervous and run-down—she felt miserable. Her mother recommended that she take HADACOL and now Mrs. Holder says, "Today, I feel wonderful, just wonderful, and I owe it to HADACOL." Mrs. Holder was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niamin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mrs. Holder says: "I was nervous and run-down and I had lost weight and had no appetite—food just didn't interest me. I had aches and pains. I felt miserable. My mother started taking HADACOL and it did her so much good that I decided to give it a try. After the first bottle I noticed an improvement. After the second bottle I felt better. I have now taken 6 bottles and feel grand. I am no longer nervous or run-down. I have loads of energy. I have a big appetite and have regained the weight I lost. No more aches or pains, either. Today I feel wonderful, just wonderful, and I owe it to HADACOL for it has done so much for me. I just can't praise it enough."

A short business meeting was held at which time a letter of Mrs. Jane Carpenter, 1721 South Lamine avenue, who will be 89 years old her birthday, is happy over a clipping about her big sister, who on December 13 observed her 101st birthday anniversary. The clipping is an article about Mrs. Sarah I. Cook, widow of a Civil War veteran, who is living at the Women's Relief Corps Home, Oxford, New York, written by a reporter from the Binghamton Press, in a city 35 miles from Oxford. A picture of Mrs. Cook and her birthday cake was printed with the article.

Mrs. Cook, when asked the secret of long life, said, "Just be yourself, don't put anything on and don't take anything off. Take life as it comes and you'll live as long as you do," which sounds logical enough.

Mrs. Cook has been in the home since January 1950 and Superintendent Walter Vadney says she is a model patient. She is the oldest one there and the other patients call her "Grandma."

Although she spends most of her time in bed at the hospital she is cheerful and mentally alert.

Born In Missouri

She was born December 13, 1849 in Missouri. She is the widow of Pvt. James H. Cook, who served with Company I, 45th Missouri Volunteer Infantry in the Civil War. They went to New York state in 1874 and he died on March 14, 1919. Mrs. Cook has two sons, Charles Cook, of Bradford, Pa., and William Cook, of Fredonia.

Mrs. Cook had a big time on her birthday, she had a cake, with candles, not 101, they couldn't get a cake that big, but a few candles, maybe one for every ten years.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Move to Put Republicans In the Cabinet

WASHINGTON. — President Truman isn't likely to move on it, but some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his cabinet—including possibly Governor Dewey as secretary of state.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been indecision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, also on top of the President's music-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our Allies.

Most people don't realize it, but the music-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it may have been humorous, but to the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might lose his temper, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge the world into war.

For these and other reasons, some of the top Democrats in Washington ardently hope for more unity, even if it means surrounding the President with a few Republicans.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity before Pearl Harbor by bringing two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his cabinet as secretary of war and secretary of the Navy. And while there is not too much personal enthusiasm about Governor Dewey in Democratic circles, he is recognized as a man of real ability and deep sincerity as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has come to Acheson's support. Finally Acheson had privately hoped to leave the State Department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Comeback

It was just about a year ago that the most harassed and criticized man in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews.

At that time, the admirals were up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. A secret propaganda agency in the Navy was shooting out malice against the air forces. And Matthews was branded as a fresh-water executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri river.

However, the political pendulum has a habit of swinging into Washington, and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave.

Secret of his comeback was keeping quiet, being a good sport and working closely with the efficient new executive whom he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm. Forrest Sherman.

Today the Navy has scored some real triumphs in the Korean war, especially the evacuation of Hungnam where not a single life was lost. And the much-debated super airplane carrier which the Navy so much wanted is to be built after all.

NOTE—Admiral Sherman, who was Matthews' personal choice to be chief of naval operations, has been so far with the Army and Air Force that, if General Bradley should be promoted to become White House chief of staff, Sherman would probably succeed him as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Morse Says No

During every recent election, Wayne Morse, the independent, pro-labor senator from Oregon, has waltzed out into the political arena to make speeches for his conservative anti-labor GOP colleagues. No matter how much Morse disagreed with those colleagues, he rallied to their support at election time—even making a speech against his close friend, Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, in favor of the Chicago Tribune's candidate, Curley Brooks.

Now, however, Morse says "no more." Failure of Republican leaders to put Morse on the important GOP policy committee of the Senate was too much.

"They need not think they can get me to campaign all around the country for reactionary candidates," he told friends, "and then discipline me in the Republican conference by not putting me on the policy committee. I've supported my last reactionary Republican and they can lump it."

When the new policy committee was announced at a closed-door caucus, North Dakota's Sen. Bill Langer snorted: "I protest this kind of a committee with no progressives on it. I think Morse should be on it. You expect him to campaign for you, but when it comes to recognition here, you pass him by."

BEEF BAN—The American people were about to get some extra meat last week at cheaper prices when the telephone rang in Secretary Brannan's apartment telling him that the first case of hoof-and-mouth disease in 13 months had broken out at Colmatco, Mexico. With hoof-and-mouth disease on the down grade, Brannan had been all set to lift the ban against Mexican beef. As a result of that phone call, however, Mexican cattle must still be banned and the price of beef will continue high.

U.S. SURVIVAL—Army Chief of Staff Gen. Joe Collins warned the Senate Armed Services committee behind closed doors that the United States may not survive—if Western Europe falls into Russian hands. Warning that Russia would turn Europe's industrial warmaking power against us, Collins declared: "If Russia overruns Europe, it not only would make it more difficult for us to defeat Russia, but I think it is doubtful whether we would survive that struggle."

Britain and France May be Living in Fast-Fading Past

By Bruce Blossat

The British know that Red Chinese soldiers have killed and are killing Britons in Korea and that rebels who may get financial and other aid from Communist China are killing British fighting men in Malaya.

The French are thoroughly aware that the Communist Viet Minh forces in Indo-China, which have been battling a French army there for five years, are supplied with weapons and training by the Red Chinese.

Yet the British believe it is proper and sensible to maintain a relatively thriving trade with the Chinese Communists through the British crown colony at Hong Kong. This trade most certainly includes materials which are of value to the Chinese war machine.

And the other day the French were reported to have shipped nearly 140,000 tons of steel rails to Red China. Any child knows the role played by transport in fueling an army with supplies.

The British are quite close—one might say indifferent—to the fate of Formosa, a rich island which might conceivably have prime strategic importance in keeping powerfully industrial Japan out of Red hands. Yet there are plenty of signs Britain would howl in anguish if Hong Kong were threatened.

What does all this mean?

Plainly, it indicates that both the French and British value Chinese trade so highly they consider it worth the lives of a substantial number of their soldiers.

We all know the British live by exporting. Looking at Britain's economy from the outside and from this distance, it may not be possible to judge fairly how vital the Chinese trade is to that country. But one may at least question whether Britain might not find some substitute for commerce which continues at the price of British blood.

The same may be said for France, which is less a world trading power but nevertheless maintains an active interchange of goods within its colonial empire and with nations on the fringe of that empire. Does the profit from 140,000 tons of rails show when cast in the balance against the bodies of French dead in Indo-China?

More than a few observers of postwar life in France and Britain believe that more than just economic advantage leads these countries to cling desperately to this trade. They believe intense national pride is a great factor, especially in Britain.

Britain already has witnessed a vast shrinkage of her pre-war empire. She has not adjusted to the fact, has not reconciled herself to the drastic curtailment of her world power. She still tends to think of herself in the old terms. Any further shrinkage is viewed with pain.

France, too, hates to face the thought of diminishing global power. She prefers to imagine that past glories are still hers.

If these observers are right, then the British and French, who are supposed to share the touted tradition of European realism, are showing themselves to be highly unrealistic. Failure to come to grips with reality could be a big reason why their moral resolve is so weak in the present world dilemma.

For surely a lack of moral conviction lies at the root of any decision to trade with a nation which is killing your citizens with ruthless calculation.

Stalin's 'Good Copy'

A Yugoslav newspaper counted 91 mentions of Stalin on the front page of Pravda, the leading Moscow propaganda organ, in just one issue. Naturally, none was uncomplimentary, and many fairly reeked with reverence.

You need only recall President Truman's music critic letter and the critical storm it generated to realize how different things are here. If we followed the Stalin model, it would take a mass grave to hold all the editors who spoke out against Mr. Truman on that occasion.

Here's a Handy Little Guide To Being Good Mother-in-Law

Writes a brand new mother-in-law: "I'm going to visit my son and daughter-in-law for the first time since they have been married. Since they live at a distance I plan to stay about a month. I want very much for my daughter-in-law to really like me. Have you any suggestions for me?"

The first is: Cut that month down to two weeks. No matter how much your new daughter-in-law likes you, entertaining you for the first time will be something of a strain on her. After all, housekeeping is still pretty new to her and she'll want to do her husband proud, so she'll be putting out a lot of effort. A month of that may seem like a pretty long time to her.

Here are a few don'ts you might try to bear in mind during your visit.

Let Her Make Her Own Mistakes

Don't give in to the impulse to give out with a lot of household hints. Her way of doing things may seem slow or even awkward to you, an experienced housekeeper, but let her do things her own way.

Don't get too sentimental over how cute your son was at age two, or too confidential about all the girls he thought he was in love with. These are the two topics of conversation lots of mothers-in-law overdo.

Don't get inquisitive about how much things cost. She may have splurged on the modern lamp, knowing it was an extravagance—yet be reluctant to tell you what it cost. The fact that your son earns the pay check doesn't give you the right to want to know how his wife spends it.

Do a few things on your own during your visit. If you are with your daughter-in-law constantly from morning until bedtime every day of your visit she is bound to wish she could be by herself for a little while.

Let her know that you think your son was a good picker. If you can do that—whatever else you do or don't do isn't too important.

The Doctor Says—

Commonest Skin Disease is No Threat to General Health

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

One of the most common of the skin diseases in psoriasis, pronounced with the "p" silent. It worries people a good deal—and affects the appearance—but it is relatively harmless as far as life and general health are concerned.

The involved skin is usually bright red, flat, and scaly on the surface. There is a sharp dividing line between the normal skin and that which is affected. The elbows, knees, lower back and scalp are the places most likely to be attacked. It can cover only a small part of the skin or spread to a large part of the body surface.

If the psoriasis starts suddenly there is likely to be severe itching. In the more chronic cases (which are more frequent) there is little or no itching. Those parts of the skin which have been involved for a long time generally become covered with a thick scale. When the scale is scraped off, tiny bleeding spots appear underneath.

Unfortunately the cause of psoriasis, like that of so many other diseases of the skin, has not been discovered. Several members of the same family are sometimes afflicted, and this may or may not be a clue.

Also psoriasis is frequently associated with certain kinds of arthritis, though just what the connection is when the same person is still uncertain. However, this raises the possibility that cortisone or ACTH may be put to use in psoriasis. Time will tell.

Many treatments are being used for psoriasis. Most of them produce good results the first time they are tried. But too often the improvement turns out to be only temporary and when it is repeated the good results that happened the first time fail to materialize.

Do Not Despair

The remedies most often used by skin specialists for psoriasis include ointments containing coal tar, exposure to ultraviolet rays (psoriasis is usually better in the summer), and X-rays. Almost every year, too, there is a report of some new and "better" treatment, but as yet there is none which has stood up and really does the job for everybody without any failures.

Some day the right treatment will come, but until it does psoriasis will be discouraging to treat. However, much work is being done on it and those who have psoriasis should not despair.

Q—Can an expert tell by examination of blood to what race of man it belongs?

A—No. All men belong to the same zoological species, known as Homo sapiens, and their blood is the same.

Q—How does airplane travel compare in safety with that of train or bus?

A—While airlines have the edge over private driving, it is still safer to travel by train or bus. The airline rate of 1.3 is comparable with the train rate of rate of 0.08, or the bus rate of 0.20, for each 100 million passenger miles.

Q—When did the first ship pass through the Panama Canal?

A—August 15, 1914.

THE STORY: Paul Twing took justice in his own hands when he kidnapped Judy Twing, small daughter of his dead brother, from her unworthy mother, May Jenkins, a girl from West Virginia, inside an accompanying Paul and Judy even though Paul is charged with kidnapping. They go to New York, where Paul has a friend, a sea captain, who can help him get out of the country. But in New York, Judy suddenly exposes her identity while she is with May. Paul, meanwhile is trying to contact the sea captain Martin Jabob. When May and Judy return to their room and Judy is playing with a little boy who lives in the rooming house, May sees plainclothesmen draw up outside the place. She pushes Judy who is dressed in boys' clothing, into a closet and then turns on Harry, Judy's playmate.

May He was on the verge of tears. "Answer the man, John." May intercepted. "Have you lost your tongue?" "John." It was a weak whisper. The detective gave May a hard look. "Let the kid answer his own questions."

The other detective—the one who had taken his hat off—had been wandering about the room. May had tried to follow his course without doing so too obviously. Her knees were beginning to act funny again. She reached out and held to the refreshingly cold iron rail at the foot of the bed for support. The detective had passed the door of the closet twice and glanced at it both times but hadn't opened it. Now he joined his partner in front of Harry.

"This your mother, kid?" the interrogator asked. Harry nodded. The detective was about to frame another question when his companion flicked his arm with the back of his hand. "Save it. We're wasting time. This isn't the kid. His eyes are as brown as chestnuts. We're looking for blue."

The detective put his hat back on his head, cupped Harry's chin in his hand and inspected him. He smiled. "Okay kid." Then he turned to May and took his hat off again. "Sorry we bothered you, lady. We got a wrong number."

AFTER the detectives left the room and closed the door, May fled to the window. She threw it open and leaned out. The group in front of the building had grown. They were staring up at her and when she appeared several of them pointed. An excited murmur carried up to her.

May didn't care. She had to hear what the detectives said to the landlady. That was all that mattered now.

The crowd's attention was torn and is eligible.

Someone for whom you have done a favor sends you a gift at Christmas time by way of saying "Thank you."

RIGHT: Accept the gift graciously, without apologizing for not having sent a gift.

You are signing your own and your husband's name to Christmas cards.

RIGHT: Sign them "Mary and George Smith."

You have heard that it is poor taste to use bright-colored ink for personal letters, but would like to address your Christmas cards in red ink.

You are invited out to dinner during a time when you are on a very restricted diet.

You make a practice of giving small Christmas gifts to several friends who also remember you at Christmas.

The landlady hurried after them. When they were seated in the car and the motor had been started, the one sitting nearest to the curb eyed the landlady sourly. She was saying something to him but May couldn't catch what she said. As the car pulled away the detective's words cleared clearly enough, however. "False alarm."

May sank into the chair. She felt beaten and spent. For a moment she lay back staring at the ceiling. Then she dropped her head into her hands and sobbed. "Was they cops?" Harry's awe struck voice carried through to her. May lifted her head and looked at the little boy. Then she took him in her arms and hugged him.

"You were wonderful, darling. Wonderful. God bless you!"

WHEN Paul Twing woke that morning he had momentary difficulty orienting himself. The small, sickly yellow room and the narrow bed were totally unfamiliar, but then the fuzziness of sleep cleared from his mind and he recalled the hotel he had checked into late at night.

After crossing the river he had wandered New York's streets for several hours and then found a room in the theatrical district. He dressed hurriedly and went out. He bought a newspaper and scanned the headlines as he walked to the corner. Nothing new.

After a brief breakfast at an orange juice stand, Paul crossed the street and went into a drug store.

While walking about downtown New York the previous evening he had debated the safest approach to Martin Jabob. He had no idea where his friend and the ship would be at the moment, but he did know that he could get that information by going to the offices of the New York agent of the small oil company Jabob worked for. Phoning seemed to be the safest expedient.

Paul found the number in the telephone directory and dialed it.

You are inviting guests for a sit-down dinner.

RIGHT: State a definite time. Say "seven o'clock." If the time is at all vague, some guests may show up late enough to make it difficult to wait dinner for them.

12-Year-Old St. Louis Girl Swaps School for a Home

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—A 12-year-old girl has swapped her sixth-grade school books for kitchen utensils and has taken up housekeeping for her 19-year-old husband.

She is the former Virginia Pennell, one of nine children. Her husband is Donald Eugene Gray, a furniture factory employee. He's the boy who used to live next door.

How long they courted before they were married Dec. 22 is their secret. In fact, the marriage itself was a secret until yesterday.

Mother Informed Later

Virginia's mother didn't learn of it until four days after the ceremony. She was surprised and said:

"I didn't agree to it at first, but now that they've married, what can I do?"

The couple is living in a little basement apartment. Gray is described as a steady worker.

When word of the marriage leaked out, Virginia's mother at first answered a few questions. Then the telephone began to ring. The entire family, including the newlyweds, decided to go into seclusion.

Before this, however, Virginia told a newsman: "I love my husband and I'm glad we got married."

Magistrate Fooled

The magistrate who performed the ceremony, George W. Johnson, didn't know the girl was only 12. In applying for the license, Virginia gave her age as 19. The magistrate said he had no reason to doubt it.

Even as the news spread, a child bride of another day returned home from a hospital after giving birth to her fifth child, a girl. The baby was born Jan. 6.

The mother is Mrs. Iva Queen, 18. Married at 13, she is happy about her family.

"I'll still be young when they are grown," she said.

Her husband is 28, a $200-a-month employee in the city garbage collection department.

More Mature Than Classmates

Virginia, the new bride, attended a small Lutheran school here before her marriage. Her teacher, Ernst Eulert, described her as an average girl, rather attractive and more mature than her classmates.

She went to classes regularly until the Christmas holidays he said, but failed to show up after classes resumed.

Word got around to Virginia's classmates—three boys and 12 girls—that she had gotten married.

"The class was in a high state of excitement," Eulert said, "but we soon put a stop to that."

Korean War Far From Being an Exclusive US Affair

raises the burning question of whether the Korean war is a United Nations problem or whether our overworked Uncle Sam is being assigned the task of playing Atlas to all the world's woes.

Endeavor To Avoid War

The Commonwealth conference quickly disavowed advocacy of a Chinese-American meeting. However, it agreed that the non-Communist world must avoid war with Red China in every way possible—an attitude naturally strengthened by the vast material interests of the British Commonwealth in China.

It also must be noted that a war with China would be waged in the theatre which encompasses a great part of the British Commonwealth. Such a war certainly is to be avoided if it can be done with reason.

Naturally any suggestion that the United States and Communist China engage in a two-power conference over the Korean issue would be fantastic. The Korean war isn't the exclusive affair of the United States by a long shot. It is a United Nations responsibility and America doesn't want any exclusive rights assigned her.

Just in passing, it may be said that there is small basis for belief that conferences with the Communists can produce a solution for anything. Broadly speaking, Moscow doesn't want differences solved, because unsettled conditions are what she needs for a successful prosecution of the Communist revolution.

So far as the United States is concerned, her position has been made clear. She always is ready to talk with anybody in the interests of peace—and that includes China. However, America isn't prepared to negotiate with a gun at her head, and has no intention of running to Peiping and saying "Please." The best she got out of the Chinese Communist delegates at Lake Success was insults.

It is a truism that Washington is straining every nerve to achieve peace. It's a certainty that no conference which could further this effort would be passed up.

However, any bilateral conference with the Reds doesn't figure among reasonable possibilities. America isn't playing a lone hand—we hope.

War Fears to Crown Colony

HONG KONG, Jan. 12.—(P)—This crown colony adjoining Red China had a collective case of war-fear nerves today.

Officials ordered all British subjects—men and women—to be prepared for immediate military call and the rumor mill began churning out wild reports.

There were these developments: (1) The government said all British subjects above age 17 are required to register for the service of the empire by Feb. 1. It applies to Eurasians and Chinese born in Hong Kong as well as Europeans.

(2) Malcolm MacDonald, the British high commissioner for southeast Asia, said British dependants would not be advised to evacuate Hong Kong—as American families have been.

(3) Chinese newspapers carried front page reports that bugle-blowing Chinese Red troops traded shots across the border with Hong Kong police. The reports were denied by Hong Kong police who said the "bugle-blowing troops" were several Chinese trying to sneak into the colony.

(4) A private commercial radio station said all Royal Navy men ashore had been ordered to report back to their ships. A Royal Air Force spokesman said only the crew of one frigate had been called back to its ship to search for a missing Spitfire fighter plane.

'Panic Proofing' Is a Big Job

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Jan. 12.—(P)—Erie Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, says one of the biggest jobs facing the country is "panic-proofing the public."

"This is just as important as bomb-proofing a city," Cocke said last night at the dedication of the new $100,000 headquarters of the Shelton Beatty Legion post here.

The Legion commander said the United States now is engaged in "Operation Survival" against armed Communism.

Calling for universal military training, he said "every person in or out of uniform has a deep responsibility."

"There is no chance in the world of a deal with Russia," he said. "She has broken 69 treaties and promises, positive indication she does not want to cooperate for peace. The only authority she recognizes is strength."

"There is not a single business man in this country would want to do business with a man that went bankrupt 69 times."

Cocke said communities which believe they are safe from enemy bombing because they have no defense plants or other vital targets have an even greater responsibility in getting ready to take care of displaced persons and refugees.

He added: "Russia has the B-29. It was good enough to carry our atom bomb, good enough to carry theirs. It would be no sacrifice for Russian pilots to fly those planes here on one-way missions, drop their bombs, land, be captured, and live a better life than they ever lived before."

"It is high time this country started operating on its own timetable rather than on Russia's."

D. C. Johns to St. Louis Bank

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—Delos C. Johns, 52, Kansas City lawyer-banker, was elected president of the Federal Reserve bank of St. Louis yesterday by the board of directors.

He is to take office Feb. 1 to succeed Chester C. Davis, who is resigning to become an associate director of the Ford Foundation. Johns was elected to fill out Davis' unexpired term and to a full five-year-term which will start March 1.

A practicing lawyer in Kansas City for 20 years, Johns is now vice president, general counsel and secretary of the Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City. He served for several months last year as an advisor to the Bank of Greece and helped plan reforms in that nation's banking and currency system.

Olin M. Attebery was re-elected first vice president of the Federal Reserve bank here and was named to a full five-year term in that office starting March 1. A member of the bank's staff since 1914, he was named first vice president last week to succeed F. Guy Hitt, who resigned to return to private banking in Franklin county, Ill.

Both appointments were approved by the board of governors of the federal reserve system in Washington.

Strikes From Air and By Artillery Break up Reds' Attack Today

dropped 215 tons of food, ammunition, medical supplies and clothing to the central Korean defenders.

Other Red forces were dug in south of Wonju.

But brisk fighting swirled in the Tanyang area, far behind this exposed Allied position. Tanyang is a rail and road center south of the Han river at its southernmost bend. It is astride one withdrawal route for the Second division leading toward the old Pusan beachhead.

The Communists set up their roadblock near Ochi, a town on the main road between Tanyang and Chungju 22 miles to the west. They poured fire on Allied vehicles carrying supplies to the Second division farther north.

Allied patrols rushing out to clear the supply road ran into road mines. Then the Reds attacked.

Another vanguard patrol of the Communist flanking force tangled with Allied troops northeast of Tanyang.

The Eighth army did not report the results of either skirmish. It reported there were at least 1,000 Red troops along the Tanyang-Chungju highway.

A. P. correspondent William Barnard reported from the front that there were two full North Korean divisions—the Sixth and 10th—in the force that slipped around the eastern flank of the Second division. Sizable elements of the force were reported 10 miles south of Chechon and only six miles north of Tanyang.

Menace On Roads

A. P. correspondent Don Huth at Eighth army headquarters reported this deep-thrusting Communist force threatened the Allied right flank and menaced the important network of roads leading south in that area.

If Tanyang should fall, an important retreat route for Allied troops would be lost. There is only one other road available to the hard-fighting Second division doughboys if they are forced to retreat from their exposed position near Wonju.

The second, manning a horse-shoe-shaped defense perimeter with the top less than two miles from Wonju, was having a tough fight.

The two Red Korean regiments from the northeast cut across the Wonju-Chechon road and forced the Americans off a dominating hill southeast of Wonju.

From that hill the Reds poured small arms and automatic weapons fire into the American positions.

The doughboys called for air support. The first planes roared down on the Reds at 9 a. m. Friday (7 p. m., EST, Thursday).

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers and navy carrier-based planes bombed, rocketed and machine-gunned the Reds and sprayed jetted gasoline.

B-29 superforts, called out in one of their rare tactical missions, also blasted enemy personnel.

"We are bringing in those planes just as fast as we can," a Second division spokesman said. "There are plenty of targets. The weather is perfect."

The planes still were roaring down on the Reds at 1:30 p. m. (11:30 p. m., EST, Thursday).

President Calls on Congress For a Big Boost in Taxation

Truman did not hint at the size of the budget to be presented on Monday.

But by the end of 1951, Mr. Truman declared, defense and foreign aid spending should hit a rate between $45,000,000,000 and $55,000,000,000 a year. This is roughly double today's outlays.

"The real economic cost of this defense effort is that we must work harder, reduce consumption, and forego improvements in farm, business and household equipment," Mr. Truman said.

For Payment Now

"This cost cannot be put off into the future. It must be paid by the people now, one way or another, and it should be paid by the people now, one way or another, and it should be paid through taxation."

Laying great stress on the inflationary hazard, the President then called for "broad extension of price and wage controls" to hold the anti-inflation line for the duration of the emergency.

He also asked Congress to provide:

Stronger rent control authority to replace the present "obsolete" ceilings.

International pacts governing the supply of vital materials, and extension of export control.

Credit control over existing houses as well as new buildings.

But the major emphasis was on a rigorous, budget-balancing tax program.

The heavier taxes, he said, "will make it harder for everybody."

"But for any group to seek to adjust its income upward, to counteract the higher taxes which the defense program is making necessary, would tend to relieve that group from its share in the cost of achieving national security."

"I am sure that every group will be willing to accept the necessary sacrifices in this emergency, if the whole stabilization program is fair and equitable."

"Effective price and wage controls, much higher taxes on business profits, along with many other restrictions which will affect the whole population, are all aspects of a comprehensive stabilization program in which everyone will do his part."

On the manpower front the President said that "industry hiring standards are being reviewed, to provide suitable jobs for workers," and additional shifts and longer hours in some defense industries "are being encouraged."

He added:

"Arrangements are under study to protect the pension and seniority rights of workers who shift to defense jobs."

He asked for an improvement in the unemployment insurance system to provide better protection for workers who leave their communities to take defense jobs in other states.

Million for Armed Forces

Mr. Truman said that in terms of manpower our present defense targets are "very substantially short of the requirements imposed by full-scale war," but still will call for an increase of nearly 1,000,000 men and women in the armed forces within a few months and probably not less than 4,000,000 more in defense production by the end of the year.

In grave language, he asserted: "If the free nations mobilize and direct their strength properly, they can support whatever military effort may be necessary to avert a general war or to win such a war if it comes. The resources are on our side. The only question is whether they will be used with speed and determination. The answer will depend upon unity of purpose and of action—unity among the free nations, unity here in the United States."

"Unity is imperative on the economic front. On this front, everybody is involved—every businessman, worker and farmer; every banker and scientist and housewife; every man and woman. We can win our way through to ultimate triumph if we all pull together. Decisive action, essential to our safety, should not be halted by controversy now."

Fined $35 for Careless Driving

Donald Hopkins, 17, rural route 2, charged with careless driving in connection with exceeding the speed limit in Sedalia, was fined $25.00 in police court this morning by Judge Jerry Trotter. He was also lectured by the court.

Hopkins pleaded not guilty to the charge after which police officers testified in the manner he was driving.

Pope's Edict Reaches Others

ding clergymen membership in Rotary or attendance at its meetings, this source said.

First, it was the organization's "worldly" character. Second, its meetings sometimes hold discussions, including religious subjects, where the attendance of a priest might be misconstrued by Catholic laymen as church approval of the discussion.

The source pointed out that clergymen are generally forbidden to attend "any manifestation of a worldly character."

They may, for example, attend motion pictures, but may not participate in "communal hunting," as for example a fox hunt or a rabbit drive.

Express Astonishment

CHICAGO, Jan. 12—(AP)—National leaders of civic clubs said today they are astonished at a papal decree forbidding Roman Catholic clergymen from belonging to their organizations.

The decision of Pope Pius XII affects Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and similar societies.

The decree is specific regarding clergymen, a member of the congregation of the sacred office, which drew up the decree, said today at the Vatican City.

The document, this source said, also reiterates the church's preference that Catholic laymen and women associate themselves with Catholic or church sponsored organizations. He described the decree as a general rule, however, open to local interpretation by bishops as far as Catholic laymen are concerned.

A former president of Rotary International said he is "amazed at the action." He is Percy Hodgson of Providence, R. I.

Is Distinction

"I don't understand it, frankly," said O. E. Peterson, secretary of Kiwanis International, at his Chicago office.

"There are essential differences between Rotary and Kiwanis in that Rotary is worldwide, whereas Kiwanis is confined to the United States, Canada and their possessions," Peterson added.

"We have in our structure an international committee on support of the churches and their spiritual aims," Peterson said.

The chairman of that committee this year is an outstanding Catholic layman, Simon H. Reynolds of Rochester, N. Y.

He added that Kiwanis has a "good cross section of all faiths" in its membership.

Melvin Jones, founder and secretary-general of the International Association of Lions clubs, said today he doesn't think the Vatican leaders who drew up the decree "understand the workings of our organization."

"If they would study the workings of our organization they would support it," Jones added.

"We have lots of members among the Catholics in this country and also in South America. After they investigated the organization, they were for us."

TAEGU, Korea, Jan. 12—(AP)—Korean refugees ordered to leave the crowded Taegu, Pohang and Pusan areas are resisting the republic's attempts to move them to the southwest Cholla provinces.

"They remember their bitter experience of last summer," said one social affairs officer. "Many refugees were trapped by the Reds in the Cholla provinces the last time."

W. S. Medart Dies in Plunge At a Hotel

Father of Mimi Medart, Name Linked With King

PARIS, Jan. 12—(AP)—William S. Medart, St. Louis restaurant man, plunged to his death from a Paris hotel window today. His family said he leaped from the window shortly after midnight.

Medart, 46, was the father of Mimi Medart, 17, whose name was linked romantically with King Farouk of Egypt last September.

Her friends denied emphatically that she was the mysterious "Miss X" who was Farouk's companion at Biarritz and other Riviera resorts.

Medart's wife was the former silent film star, Donald Blossom.

He was director of the Medart Steel company of St. Louis and a noted golfer. He was once holder of the St. Louis amateur title and a one-time participant in the British Open.

Mimi confirmed her father's death. He had been in Europe since last month. He and his daughter were living on the fourth floor of the Hotel Continental.

Asked whether her father jumped or fell, Miss Medart, 17, said in a trembling voice: "Can't you call some other time. I'm too upset to talk."

The family came to Europe last May. Mimi had been studying here and in Paris.

Her name was linked with Farouk's when one of the king's companions at the Mediterranean resorts refused to give her name to reporters.

In London on Sept. 14 Mimi told reporters she was "trying to forget" King Farouk.

She said she met the king at a hotel in Deauville.

"He is a very nice gentleman," she said. "He sent me flowers and kissed my hand once."

She related at that time that the king intended to go to Cairo for Christmas and "friends" had invited her to go there too.

"I always wanted to see Cairo," she added.

Earlier, the king himself, through a member of his party, had denied meeting her at Deauville. Mimi's mother also had denied that Mimi, or any of her family, had met Farouk, and blamed the report on the king's interest in her daughter on a press agent.

The mother said she did not like such "undignified" stories.

SACRAMENT is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 14, 1951. Golden Text: John 6:53. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it." (Matt. 26:26, 27) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor—the receptive thought—they will bring in the millennium." Sympathy

All human beings crave sympathy. Everyone wants to be loved and understood, to have some one who shares his woes and troubles. A life without some consolation would be hard to contemplate, much less endure.

Only a prideful self-deception would prompt a man to boast that he can get along "on his own" without any dependence on others. Even the Perfect Man—Christ Himself—craved at times for sympathy. There is no more harrowing experience on record than the loneliness and desolation of the Saviour as He underwent the Agony of Gethsemane.

The followers of Christ are sometimes called upon to bear the cross of apparent complete abandonment. There are occasions when human hearts, it seems, must seek vainly for comfort and relief in the midst of trial or sorrow. But this is true only when sympathy is sought on earth alone.

There is no moment so dark, so weighted with despondency or fear, that a man cannot look to heaven for the sympathy and encouragement he needs. God never turns His face from the troubled spirit of any man. Indeed it is often in times of greatest stress that He pours forth His love in the most superabundant measure.

Whoever feels that life is a cold, comfortless, lonely thing, lacks a full faith in the ever-accessible sympathy of God. What man is there who prays well and often who does not sense the warming presence of the Creator everywhere and in everything? Where is the man who cherishes the thought of God's watchful solicitude and is ever overcome by fear?

Every believer in God may well rejoice over the wealth of sympathy to be found in Him. Someone has described sympathy as "two hearts tugging at one load." Man, being weak and vulnerable, may grow faint in the hour of testing; but with God on his side, he can triumph and overcome all.

There is only one tendency to be guarded against to let the craving for sympathy degenerate into a form of selfishness. There are times when we must, for our soul's good, taste the bitterness of loneliness and desolation. There may be hard experiences to be borne so that we may realize another truth that sympathy is to be given as well as sought; that those who lack sympathy for others may be fated to cry out some day most grievously for the boon of consolation and understanding.

Sunday School Lesson

"Thou Shalt Not Kill"

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The commandment, "Thou Shalt not kill," the sixth in the Hebrew Decalogue (Exodus 20), stands as an admonition to mankind against age-long killings upon a vast scale.

Unfortunately, there is a discrepancy between the Commandment and the grim and terrible facts of the destruction of human life becomes all the more emphasized, when one considers the teaching of Jesus, not only concerning life and love, but enjoining even love for enemies.

In relation to this tragic and perplexing situation a correspondent in Wisconsin has sent me the following letter:

"May I love the truth concerning the teachings of the Bible in regard to our government's orders. In the armed services you are ordered to kill the enemy. The Bible tells us in Exodus 20, 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

Which is to be feared and respected, God in heaven, or the bayonets and rifles at your back? "With both sides praying to God for counsel and guidance, how sad and confused warfare is. I believe our men in government situations have no fear of God. Otherwise they would be honest in dealings and speak the truth. They are leading our nation to its downfall morally and economically. Then, at its downfall, the good must suffer with the evil ones."

"Why must this be? Why must the good suffer with the bad. May I have your God-guided reply?"

This was my reply:

"I would call your attention to

Numbers 31, and especially to Deuteronomy 2:34, in which you will see that Moses did not regard the Commandment as absolute against every circumstance; although I hope that neither you nor I would justify such wholesale slaughter of women and "little ones" because it is "in the Bible."

There are two sorts of people: The one sort, typified by the good American citizen and the principles of American democracy, believe in a society of law and order, in which men live peaceably with one another, respecting one another's rights and liberties; the other sort, typified by gangsters and aggressors, are willing and eager to kill and destroy, if they can thereby serve their own ends.

"For the former sort to do nothing to prevent killing and destruction would be, in my judgment, not to follow the spirit of the teaching of Jesus, but to make themselves accessories to the crimes of others."

"Should the guards who shot and killed the would-be assassin of President Truman have obeyed the Commandment, allowing that man to go ahead and kill? Or were they really obeying the spirit of the Commandment?"

"In that incident, I believe you have the answer to the whole question. I do not believe that either in its government or its people the USA wants war or killing. We are not a perfect people, but the whole purpose of this nation is to prevent war and killing."

Refuses Bargain On Own Gun
WOODBOURNE, N. Y. — (AP) — Enroute to his home here at an early morning hour, Burton McGray, New York City reservoir project worker, was halted by a man standing in the highway who offered to sell him a shotgun at a bargain price.
McGray looked at the gun, thought it looked familiar, but said he wasn't interested and drove home. There he found a window had been forced open, his house ransacked and his favorite shotgun stolen.

Tigers Upset Columbia in Conference Tilt

Anticipate Mad Scramble For the Conference Title

The Smith-Cotton Tigers upset the CEMO conference leaders, the Columbia Kewpies, at Columbia Thursday night by a score of 46 to 40, topping the Kewpies from the unbeaten ranks. The loss will throw the MECO conference into a mad scramble for the 1950-51 basketball championship.

Practice "made" the Tigers for this game. They were excellent in taking the rebounds and the team as a whole had full steam and plenty of hustle. The Sedaliaans held a 18-14 point lead at the half time period.

Bob Shawver led the Tiger attack scoring 18 points, twelve of which were collected in the opening half. "Bill" McCrary tallied five points while Claude Murphy made three beautiful long shots, good for six points.

Bill Morgan played a smooth game working the majority of the rebounds and guarding the outstanding Kewpie forward, Bob Musgrave so tight that Musgrave was able to score only four points. Until this game Musgrave had an average of 20 points a game.

Boonville Cager Dies of Injuries Received Here

A chapter of tragedy came out of the recently played basketball tournament at the C. C. Hubbard high school, when it was learned that Carol Greene, forward on the Boonville Summer high school had died. Greene died during an operation on his nose. It was said the operation was necessitated by an injury received during a game with Lincoln high of Kansas City in the Sedalia tournament. The tournament was played December 16-17.

Relatives received word Greene had died while under the anesthetic, given him so the operation could be performed to set his broken nose. He was admitted to the Ravensway clinic at Boonville on Tuesday for the operation.

During the game Greene had suffered an injury but at the time it was not believed he had been seriously hurt. He continued to play in the game and was in excellent spirits at its ending and joked and talked to fellow participants.

It was learned several days later the nose had been broken and he had bled inwardly.

Tarry Quits in a Huff at Officials

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 12—(AP)—Basketball coach McCoy Tarry has quit Memphis State college with acid comments about school officials.

Tarry resigned yesterday, saying college authorities failed to "cooperate in turning out winning basketball teams." The squad had a 6-5 record this year.

He complained that players were allowed to practice only two hours a day, that they have sub-standard living quarters and that they never was consulted on scheduling games.

Furthermore, he added in his letter of resignation to President J. Millard Smith:

"Numerous times I have been called on to do things such as paint, sow grass seed and do general messenger boy type work that I believe would lower the dignity of the position of head basketball coach in the sight of the boys that play under him."

Athletic Director C. C. Humphreys said no college official had put pressure on Tarry, adding "Tarry submitted his resignation to Mr. Smith under his own free will and Mr. Smith accepted it with regret."

Charles Rates Big Favorite Over Lee Oma

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, improving with every start, rates a solid 1 to 5 choice to whip tricky Lee Oma tonight at Madison Square Garden in the sixth defense of his world heavyweight title.

The determined champion, sharp and ready at 184 pounds, figures to unhinge the clownish Oma within the 15-round limit, perhaps around the eighth. The scant betting action centers around Lee's chances of going the route. It's about 9 to 5 he won't.

New-found respect for 29-year-old Charles after his victory over Joe Louis is reflected at the gate. It won't be a sellout but the International Boxing Club expects about 12,000 fans and $65,000. Millions will follow the bout on television and radio. Ring time is 10:00 p. m. (EST).

Fight Styles Different

Styles make the bout interesting. Oma, a master of confusion, is hard to catch. Sometimes he walks away, drops both hands, and turns his back. He is a master at slipping and catching punches and a pretty fair right hand puncher on his own.

The reform angle is stressed heavily in Oma's story. Spotty is a polite way of describing his past record that shows at least 91 official fights. When in shape, he whipped some of the best around. Currently he ranks No. 4 among the heavyweight contenders although he'll be 35 in March.

Tex Sullivan, Oma's manager, bundled his unpredictable tiger into a camp at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., about a month ago. He has been working hard, bouncing through his boxing work and taking to the road.

Oma lost only one of his last 16 fights. That was a knockout by Bob Satterfield which he later reversed with a decision, Sept. 25 in his last fight. He'll weigh about 192 for this one.

Oma In Good Condition

Teddy Bentham, Oma's trainer, insists Oma is in "very good shape." Ray Arcel, Charles' trainer, says "Essy's ready." If they both are right, it could be quite a battle.

Charles is ahead of Louis' record for defenses by some three months. Since he beat Jersey Joe Walcott June 22, 1949 to win the title he has knocked out every opponent—except Louis. Freddie Besore and Nick Barone were his 1950 KO victims.

A sharp puncher with either hand and a smart boxer who always is in good condition, Charles doesn't figure to be bothered by Oma's style. He did a good job on Walcott who uses much the same tactics.

The pace should be fast at the start. Sullivan says Oma will try to pile up a big early lead against an expected closing surge by Charles. While Lee is fresh and eager he may make Charles look futile. Once he starts to run out of gas under those winning body blows he may be forced to surrender.

Charles Record The Best

Just for the record, here's how the fighters shape up on past performances:

Fighters	Fights	Won	KO's	Losses	Draws
Charles	75	69	44	5	1
Oma	91	62	28	26	3

Oma, signed for 17 1/2 per cent, is getting his last big chance near the end of a checkered career. For Charles, who will pocket the champ's share of 40 per cent, this is just another step on his way to becoming the "fightingest" champ ever.

If Charles gets past Oma, he'll probably defend against Walcott in Miami, Feb. 28 although details have not been worked out.

That Boarding House Reach

Bill Spivey, Kentucky's 7-foot basketball center, can use his height to great advantage on the court, at the dining table, or at a pool table. He has no trouble reaching across a regulation pool table to retrieve a ball from a side pocket. (AP Wirephoto)

Hubbard Plays KCK Summer Here Tonight

The C. C. Hubbard high school Tigers will engage Summer high school of Kansas City, Kansas, in a cage game tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Hubbard high school gym.

In Summer the Tigers will meet one of the better teams of the Kansas City area.

Coach Akins has spent the entire week working the team on defense in an effort to stop the sharp shooting Summer high school cagers. All indications point to a red-hot battle if the Tigers continue to hit the hoop as well as they have during the week in their practice sessions.

Charity Golf Tourney Starts

By Russ Newland

PEBBLE EACH, Calif., Jan. 12—(AP)—Bing Crosby's famed charity golf tournament, bringing together the top crust of pro and amateur players, gets under way today over tricky Cypress Point.

The classy field of 172 players will compete for $10,000 in prize money over the 54-hole route in this exacting pro-amateur affair, the only one of its kind.

Crosby himself has chosen to sit this one out—the first time in the ten year history of the tournament that he hasn't been out there swinging with the best of them.

The $10,000 which Bing puts up himself is divided among the pros but charity fares even better, receiving more than $30,000 last year from spectator tickets, etc. This time, the weather being favorable, charity may do even better.

Most of the "name" players of the professional circuit, plus an array of amateurs, were listed as competitors. Even Byron Nelson, long since retired from the rigors of pro play, is taking time out from his Texas ranching to be here.

Among former U.S. Open champions, beside Nelson, are Ralph Guldahl, Lloyd Mangrum, Lawson Little, Lew Worsham and Dr. Cary Middlecoff.

Moose to Semi-Finals In Lincoln Tourney

The Sedalia Moose club advanced to the semi-finals of the Lincoln Invitational tournament Thursday night as they beat the Windsor Red Raiders in the opening round of play by a 49-32 score. The Moose took the lead from the opening gun and held it all the way.

Dean Edwards and Red Alderman led the well balanced local attack with 13 points each. They were followed by George Thompson, who chipped in 13. Miller led the Windsor cause with 16 counters to his credit.

The Moose will meet the Deepwater team tonight at 9:00 o'clock for a position in the finals. Deepwater drew a bye in the first round of play. All players are requested to meet at the Moose club at 7:30 o'clock for the trip to Lincoln.

NEA Special Correspondent

If you have followed the explanations in the first nine articles, your income is now shown correctly on the return.

You are ready to add up any income shown in the right hand column of Schedules A to G, inclusive, on page 2 of Form 1040. Put the total on the line called "Total income (or loss) from above sources" and copy this total in Item 3 of page 1.

On page 1, add Items 2 and 3 and enter the total in Item 4. This is called your adjusted gross income.

If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000 you may compute your tax by using the tax table on the back, or page 4, of the return. This table automatically allows you about 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, medical expenses, and the like. If such deductions exceed 10 per cent of Item 4, it will usually be to your advantage to itemize them and compute your tax on page 3. The next article will give detailed instructions on when it is wise to use the tax table.

John and Jane Public are a purely imaginary couple used by the Income Tax Primer to illustrate how a couple with two dependents prepares a tax return. They have been given more problems than most taxpayers in order to show how different parts of the return are filled in.

Their income tax return, as gradually filled out and explained in these articles, is shown here. The adjusted gross income, Item 4, is $6,950.47. This includes all the taxable income of both husband and wife.

In order to take advantage of the "split-income" provisions, they have filed a joint return and included all their income in the one return. Their income is over $5,000 so they must enter their adjusted gross income of $6,950.47 on Line 1 of page 3. Their tax computation will be discussed in the 14th article.

Note how separate statements have been filled out to support the deductions in Item 2 for travel expenses and in Schedule F. These statements should be securely attached to the return before it is sent to the collector.

Tax Primer Q. & A.

Q. Could John and Jane Public have used the yellow Form 1040A to report the income shown above?

A. No, for two reasons. First their income is over $5,000 so it must be reported on Form 1040 and second, Item 3 is over $100.

Q. Should I keep a copy of all returns, schedules and statements sent to the Collector?

A. Yes, keep them for 3 years. If the bureau then questions any item you will have information to help you answer the questions. The bureau ordinarily has 3 years from March 15, 1951 (if you file on time) to question your 1950 return.

Europe's Anti-Red Front is Our Prime Defense Hope

ALLIES FOR THE WEST: Hundreds of thousands of refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, like this family fleeing across the East-West border in Germany, help make up a mighty anti-Red front in Europe that would resist any Russian invasion.

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Millions of Europeans are ready and willing to fight for the west should war with Russia come. They form a solid anti-Red front that stands as our prime defense hope on the continent and far overshadows the "neutrality" dreamers among European politicians and intellectuals.

Europe's experts on Russia believe that next to the American atomic bomb the Kremlin fears this anti-Communist front more than anything else it now faces.

The evidence I marshalled on my repeated swing through continental countries generally supports that conviction. It is a conviction that was voiced to me time and again by many men who are part of the huge anti-Red nucleus. Who are the millions who comprise it?

To begin with, there are hundreds of thousands of refugees from behind the Iron Curtain. These are non-Communists, ex-Reds, even former Red army men. In Stalin's hands their lives would be worthless. They would have no choice but to fight—and many of them are well-trained for it.

Not a few of the refugees are onetime inmates of Soviet slave labor camps. They know better than most what an unprecedented massacre of "counter-revolutionists" would take place if Russia swept westward over Europe.

These runaways from Soviet terror are the tough core of resistance to Red invasion. But vastly more important numerically are the 20,000,000 European members of the anti-Soviet International Confederation of Free Trade Unions. This potential army sprawls from Berlin to Istanbul.

The federation was formed in January, 1949. Though still young as such organizations go, it is already the only force in Europe that is able to counteract the sabotage efforts of Moscow's puppet World Federation of Trade Unions.

The ICTFU has achieved notable results in its world-wide ideological struggle against Communism. Its members contribute both funds and front-line service to the endless battle for the hearts and minds of workers everywhere.

Cooperating with the International Transport Workers Union the ICTFU has succeeded in checkmating Cominform sabotage in all major Atlantic and Mediterranean ports.

Last September the pro-Red French dockers' union made a secret pact with a clandestine German organization designed to "prevent the loading and unloading of war materials in the ports of France and Western Germany."

The agreement called for creation of "action committees in every port and on every ship plying the Atlantic, Pacific and Mediterranean seas." It urged French and German dockers and seamen to keep close contact with Cominform agencies in Turkey, Greece, Italy, Yugoslavia, Belgium, Britain, the Scandinavian nations and the U.S.

Speaking in Warsaw on Sept. 18, 1950, Louis Saillant, General Secretary of the WFTU, declared: "The most important task fac-

Husband, Son Given Lie Detector Tests

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12—(P)—The husband and son of Mrs. Beulah McDonald, who was shot fatally Saturday near Ravanna, Mo., were given lie detector tests on Thursday by Kansas City police.

So was Elvin Hunter, a friend of the McDonalds. He had told investigators he was hunting with Virgil McDonald, 37, the husband, and Duane McDonald, 16, the son, the afternoon the woman was shot.

Mrs. McDonald was found in an untenanted farmhouse with Vint McKay, 64, former Mercer county Presiding Judge. McKay had been beaten and shot to death.

The three men were brought here by state highway troopers. Mercer County Sheriff Clay George and Mercer County Prosecuting Attorney J. M. Donelson.

The McDonalds and Hunter refused to be photographed. A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday that Mrs. McDonald, 33, and McKay met death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Later Prosecutor Donelson said that the test demonstrated the three men had no guilty knowledge of the deaths of Mrs. McDonald or McKay.

The McDonalds and Hunter took the tests voluntarily. They returned last night to Princeton.

There Sheriff George said, "I don't know what to do next. I'm satisfied with the results of the lie detector tests. I'll keep on going."

Huttig To Resign As State Chairman

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12—(P)—Charles M. Huttig, chairman of the Democratic state committee, tonight confirmed reports that he will resign as his party's state chief.

Huttig said he had no comment yet but that he expected to have a statement on his resignation in the near future.

Huttig was a stout supporter of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., before last August's primary election in which Hennings defeated President Truman's hand-picked candidate, former state Senator Emery W. Allison.

Immigrants In Israel Build Villages

TEL AVIV — (P) — More than 100,000 immigrants in Israel work camps are gradually transforming their settlements into self-supporting agricultural villages.

The Israeli army has undertaken to provide for the maintenance of health and other vital services in 38 of the work camps.

3 Missourians Held In Kansas Burglary

MARION, Ill., Jan. 12—(P)—State's attorney Charles Denham Thursday filed charges of burglary against three Missouri men captured here by a filling station operator Tuesday night.

The operator, Bud Hill, surprised the men as they left his station and held them at gun point until police arrived.

Denham said the men admitted robberies in Hayes, Oakley and McPherson, Kansas; Benton, Ky., and Vienna, Ill.

The defendants are Albert Lee Spence, 33, Kansas City; Jack Albert Gardner, 25, Springfield, Mo., and Howard Smith, 27, Columbia, Mo.

Chief of Police Zoral Buckner said $15 in coins from Hill's cash register was recovered from one of the trio.

US Okays Ceasefire In Korea

UN Plans Parley For 4 Big Powers Involved In Fight

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The United States accepted today a new U. N. cease-fire plan for Korea calling for a conference on all Far Eastern problems by the U. S., Russia, Britain and Red China as soon as the Korean fighting stops.

Chief U. S. delegate Warren R. Austin okayed the plan shortly after its five points were outlined to the U. N. Assembly's political committee by Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, member of the three-man U. N. ceasefire committee. Britain, France, India, Norway, Israel and Turkey also accepted the suggestions. But Russia said they must be studied fully.

Malik Seeks Proposal

Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik declared that there was "nothing new in the substance of the proposals," that they sounded "like an ultimatum" and declared that it could not serve as a basis for peace. He asserted that his "first impression" was that the wording of the plan "is deliberately foggy to make possible interpretations in any direction later."

One point of the plan suggested talks for a settlement of the question of Formosa as well as other Far Eastern issues. Earnest A. Gross, U. S. deputy in the political committee, said after that body had adjourned, that there is no new policy on Formosa. The committee will reconvene at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Gross pointed out that the U. S. last September had asked the U. N. to discuss the future of Formosa; that President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee had agreed on a discussion of existing issues in the Far East, and that the Americans have been willing to discuss all questions at the appropriate time and in the appropriate form.

Hope For Action Today

The Americans and other delegations backing the set of principles hope for their approval tomorrow by both the committee and the General Assembly. The Assembly can be called merely by adjourning the 60-nation committee and convening the Assembly in the same room.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China, said the set of principles deserve careful study. He said, however, that it did not provide for withdrawal of North Korean forces from South Korea which he called a retreat from earlier principles.

The plan, if finally accepted by all sides, would mean that the U. S. would sit at the same table with Communist China in negotiations. The U. S. does not recognize Red China and has opposed its admission to the U. N., but Austin has told the political committee that the U. S. stand ready to talk with Communist China at an appropriate time and in the appropriate forum. The U. S. has insisted that it will not talk with Red China as long as the Communist Chinese are shooting at American and U. N. forces.

Plan Has Five Points

The plan will be submitted to the Red Chinese regime as soon as the Assembly approves it. It calls for:

1. An immediate ceasefire with safeguards "ensuring that it will not be used as a screen for mounting a new offensive."

2. When a ceasefire is obtained, whether through formal arrangements or as "a result of a lull in hostilities pending some such arrangement, advantage should be taken of it to pursue consideration of further steps to be taken for the restoration of peace."

3. All non-Korean forces to be withdrawn in stages from Korea and "appropriate arrangements, in accordance with U. N. principles, will be made for the Korean people to express their own free will in respect of their future government."

4. "Appropriate interim arrangements" to be made for the administration of Korea, pending the establishment of the new Korean government.

5. "As soon as agreement has been reached on a cease-fire, the General Assembly shall set up an appropriate body which shall include representatives of the governments of the United Kingdom, the United States of America, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and the People's Republic of China with a view to the achievement of a settlement, in conformity with existing international obligations and the provisions of the United Nations charter, of Far Eastern problems, including, among others, those of Formosa and of representation of China in the United Nations."

Nebraska Gun-Battle Gives Police Fresh Lead On Cook

McCOOK, Nebr., Jan. 11.—(AP)—An unidentified man led a deputy sheriff in a high-speed running gun-battle today and a state safety patrol officer said it is "very possible" the fugitive is William E. (Bill) Cook, widely-sought desperado.

Deputy Sheriff Fran Dolan of McCook, who waged the 14-mile pursuit at speeds up to 95 miles an hour, was slightly injured when struck in the face with shotgun pellets.

The chase started when Dolan saw the man break a window in a car at a used car lot here early this morning in what looked like an attempted auto theft. The man fled in his own mud-covered sedan with Dolan in pursuit.

Gunman Eludes Search

Shots were traded but the chase ended when Dolan's car went into a ditch. A statewide alarm went out but by late afternoon, there still had been no new clues to the fugitive's whereabouts.

In Lincoln, State Safety Patrol Lt. Dan Casey said the available description, although meager, and the tactics fitted those of Cook, the Joplin, Mo., ex-convict who has been the object of a manhunt throughout the southwest. Cook is sought in connection with a series of killings.

"Of course, we don't know," said Casey, "but there is a strong possibility."

The hunt for Cook has been centered in California and Mexico although tips and clues have come also from New Mexico and Colorado.

At El Centro, Calif., Sheriff Robert W. Ware theorized today that Cook might have done away with two missing El Centro prospectors, last seen Saturday night. He broadcast a lookout notice for a 1950 maroon Studebaker sedan which the prospectors had been using.

Red Mud On Car

The man pursued here drove a 1949 two-door Plymouth sedan. Sheriff Emmet Trospen, Dolan's superior, said the red mud on the car might indicate it had been driven a long distance through the southwest.

Cook has been charged with murder and kidnapping in Oklahoma in the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mosser and their three children, of Atwood, Ill.

Finding of the bloody Mosser car Jan. 3 set off the vast manhunt. The Mossers still are missing.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Police uncovered two more possible clues today in the whereabouts of a missing Illinois family of five feared slain by Missouri badman W. E. Cook, Jr.

A blood-stained child's scarf was picked up along U. S. Highway 64 near Webers Falls, Okla., and a hunk of what is believed to be human flesh was rushed here for analysis from Jay, Okla.

Both spots are within an 80-mile radius of Tulsa and along possible routes from Arkansas where the family and Cook were reported last seen together.

Missing are Carl and Thelma Mosser and their three small children. The blood-soaked family automobile was found near Tulsa Jan. 3. Cook has been charged with murder in the case.

Boonville Boy Dies Of Hurt Received Here

Tragedy was the final result of the Hubbard Invitational Basketball tournament held here last December 16-17. Word was received here yesterday by relatives of Carol Greene, forward on Sumner high school team of Boonville, of the boy's death. Greene was injured in a tournament game here against Lincoln of Kansas City.

At the time of the boy's injury it was believed he was not seriously hurt. He continued the contest, and was in good spirits after the end of the game, joking and talking to fellow players.

Later it was discovered his nose was broken, and had bled inwardly.

Tuesday Greene was admitted to the Ravensway clinic in Boonville, for an operation to set the broken nose.

The boy died under the anesthetic.

12-Year-Old St. Louis Girl Swaps School For Marriage

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A 12-year-old girl has swapped her sixth-grade school books for kitchen utensils and has taken up housekeeping for her 19-year-old husband.

She is the former Virginia Pennell, one of nine children. Her husband is Donald Eugene Gray, a furniture factory employee. He's the boy who used to live next door.

How long they courted before they were married Dec. 22 is their secret. In fact, the marriage itself was a secret until yesterday.

Mother Informed Later

Virginia's mother didn't learn of it until four days after the ceremony. She was surprised and said:

"I didn't agree to it at first, but now that they've married, what can I do?"

The couple is living in a little basement apartment. Gray is described as a steady worker.

When word of the marriage leaked out, Virginia's mother at first answered a few questions. Then the telephone began to ring. The entire family, including the newlyweds, decided to go into seclusion.

Before this, however, Virginia told a newsman: "I love my husband and I'm glad we got married."

Magistrate Fooled

The magistrate who performed the ceremony, George W. Johnson, didn't know the girl was only 12. In applying for the license, Virginia gave her age as 19. The magistrate said he had no reason to doubt it.

Even as the news spread, a child bride of another day returned home from a hospital after giving birth to her fifth child, a girl. The baby was born Jan. 6.

The mother is Mrs. Iva Queen, 18, married at 13, she is happy about her family.

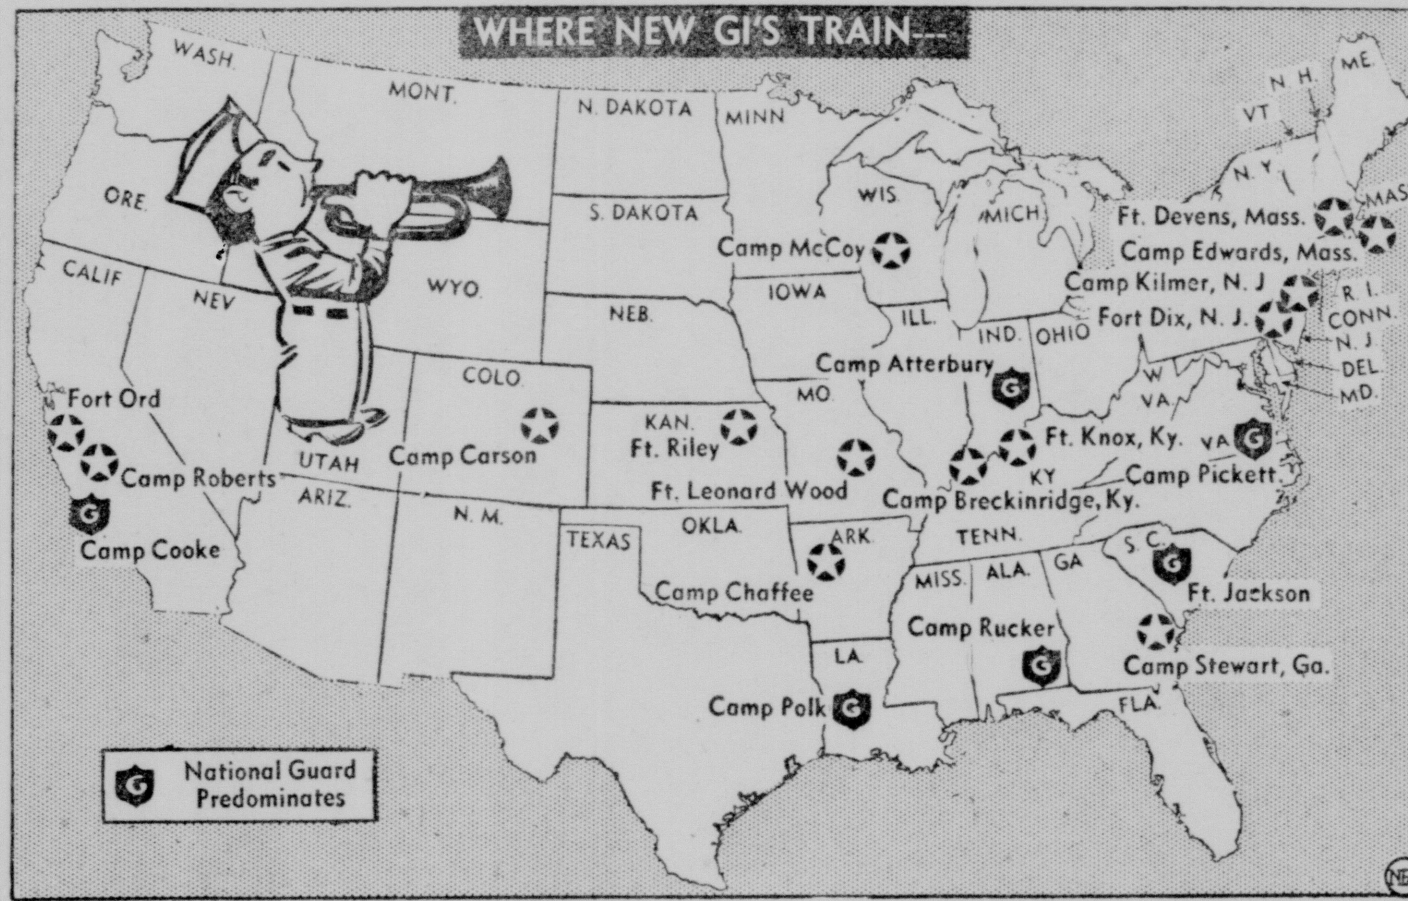

"I'll still be young when they are grown," she said.

Her husband is 28, a $200-a-month employee in the city garbage collection department.

She went to classes regularly until the Christmas holidays he said, but failed to show up after classes resumed.

Word got around to Virginia's classmates—three boys and 12 girls—that she had gotten married.

"The class was in a high state of excitement," Eulert said, "but we soon put a stop to that."

The Newsmap above shows location of major Army training camps in the United States where drafted men and inducted National Guardsmen are receiving their military training. With further rapid expansion of the Army underway, more men are pouring into these training centers every day, and additional training centers will probably be opened to handle the job.

Truman Says He Has Power To Send Troops Anywhere

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Truman declared today he has the power to send troops to Europe or anywhere else he thinks they're needed—and he threatened to carry the question to the American people if Congress tries to stop him.

I licked 'em once, the President said in a tartly plain reference to his struggle with the 80th Congress before his election in 1948.

Mr. Truman's remarks, made under brisk cross-questioning at his weekly news conference, added to a flat rejection of the stand taken by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that the President must get Congress' consent before putting American soldiers in the new Western European defense force.

Men To Europe When Needed Several times Mr. Truman repeated that he will consult Congress as a matter of courtesy before taking this step. But he said with emphasis that, under the constitution, he doesn't need Congress' consent. And he made it clear that he intends to send men to Europe as soon as he feels they are needed.

A reporter asked what would happen if Congress prevented troops' being sent to Europe by refusing to vote the necessary money.

Mr. Truman's lips tightened.

If Congress wants to do that, he said, they'll have to go to the country, and I'll go to the country with them. Then he added quickly: I licked 'em once.

He also told his news conference:

—He has no intention of abandoning the "fair deal" even though defense programs must get top priority in the present emergency. He put this statement on the record: "We stand behind the fair deal and the Democratic platform as much today as ever." But he indicated that he won't, as in the past, demand repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

2.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, contrary to some published reports, has not recommended that United Nations forces be withdrawn from Korea. Of MacArthur, the President said tersely: He's taking orders. Mr. Truman likewise denied a Tokyo report that MacArthur has been "muzzled" by Washington to prevent his speaking publicly about Korea.

Door Open To Taft

3.—The White House door is always open to Taft or any other senator. But he has no plans to invite Taft to come and see him. (The senator recently offered to join the President in helping form a united foreign policy). Mr. Truman said he doesn't find it necessary to invite senators—they ask to come to see him and he lets them.

War Casualties Compel Boost In Draft Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Army proposes to increase its draft calls by 50,000 men because of casualties in Korea.

This was disclosed today by a Defense department official, who said the additional call, suggested to the department, had not yet been served on Selective Service.

The department already has requested Selective Service to supply the Army 80,000 men a month for the first three months in 1950.

The extra 50,000 could be sought in a supplemental call, or could be added in later months.

Korean casualties number 42,713 in this week's Defense department summary for all the services.

Draft calls so far have totalled 150,000 since the war began and American mobilization was stepped up sharply. However, the department official said, this number was the planned expansion and did not take into account what casualties might be.

Carolyn Purcell Won't Lose Her Eyes; No Cancer Found

ROCHESTER, Minn., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Four-year-old Carolyn Purcell isn't going to lose her eyes, and cancer, believed threatening her life, doesn't even exist in her case.

That was the joyous report given by Mayo Clinic specialists yesterday to Carolyn's mother, Mrs. Frank Purcell of Alpha, Minn., after eight hours of examination at the medical center.

The happy mother and daughter were to leave Rochester by airplane today for Chicago where they will board another plane for Atlanta, arriving there tonight.

Mrs. Purcell brought Carolyn here by plane late Tuesday with a grim choice tormenting her mind. She had been told by doctors in Atlanta that Carolyn must either undergo surgery to have her eyes removed or die of cancer.

The 33-year-old mother and her husband, an unemployed stonemason, refused to consent to the operation. Days of anguish followed. Examination at the Mayo Clinic was suggested, but the Purcells had little money.

Shriners Supply Money

The Shriners in Atlanta stepped in and supplied money for a plane trip.

Red Troops Start Drive Southward

Big Push Apparently Aimed At Key Rail Hub Of Tanyang

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A spearhead of Reds, 30 miles south of the U. S. Second division's most northerly salient, was reported speeding southward in central Korea today.

The drive apparently was aimed at cutting the southeast railway at Tanyang.

U. S. Eighth army headquarters reported leading elements of the Red force (size and nationality not given) were ten miles south of Chechon and six miles from Tanyang.

Tanyang, a railway town 73 miles south of the 38th parallel boundary of South Korea, is 37 miles below Wonju, scene of severe fighting for the past week.

20,000 Reds Slip Through

Associated Press correspondent

William C. Barnard reported from

U. S. Second division headquarters

Thursday night that two

North Korean divisions — about

20,000 men—were sliding past the Second's right (east) flank. The Second division troops were holding a horseshoe-shaped bulge with its top a mile and a half south of Wonju. Its east prong was west of Chechon, which is 21 miles southeast of Wonju.

The Red force which the Eighth army reported ramming through deep snow 10 miles south of Chechon were presumably members of this same two divisions

North Korean force.

The main force of some 285,000

Chinese and North Korean Communist pressing the U. S. Eighth army on the western front continued its buildup and slow shift southward for an expected great new offensive.

Barnard's dispatch made no mention of any contact between the Second division and the south-bound Reds.

It said the Red force slipped down from the north and east of Wonju and was composed of the North Korean Sixth and Tenth divisions.

Part Of Giant Trap

The flanking move apparently was aimed at trapping the entire

Second division by driving through the rail junction of Chechon, and striking southward from Chungju.

Chungju is only 90 miles north of Taegu on the main highway and rail route leading to the southeast corner of the Korean peninsula.

Censorship prevented further details on location of the Reds.

Eighth army censors at midnight Thursday also clamped the lid on any further reference to the Second division's stand near Wonju.

Barnard said the Second division, bolstered by French and

Dutch battalions, was stubbornly holding ground one and one-half miles south of Wonju Thursday night. It was filed at 10 p. m.

Thursday but was not received in Tokyo until early Friday morning.

After three days of fighting

south of Yonju, an estimated 2,100 enemy dead and wounded littered the freshly fallen foot deep snow.

The veteran Second had driven a four-mile bulge in Red lines

south of Yonju in a counter-attack designed to interrupt the timet-etable of an expected Communist offensive through the mountains of central Korea.

Wonju Quiet

Barnard said only small arms fire was reported in the immediate

Peace Treaty For Japanese Coming Soon

Dulles Will Go To Tokyo To Talk Terms With Leaders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Republican advisor John Foster Dulles given the rank of ambassador by President Truman, will go to Tokyo in about 10 days to discuss Japanese peace treaty problems with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and political leaders in Japan.

This announcement today by the state department marked the end of a period of uncertainty within the American government over whether to proceed with Japanese treaty negotiations at this time in view of U. N. reverses in Korea.

Question Continued Occupation

Some military leaders had raised the question whether it might not be advisable to continue Japanese occupation indefinitely in order to provide an unchanging basis for the presence of American land sea and air forces in Japan. Dulles and other members of the State Department staff have taken the position that the U. S. in the long run would obtain greater security out of a free and friendly Japan than it could possibly obtain out of a Japan denied its independence.

The joint chiefs of staff who were at least partly responsible for raising the question in the first place finally agreed with the diplomatic view, according to authoritative informants. Last Monday the final decisions of the state and defense departments were arrived at in a meeting which brought together Secretary State Acheson and Defense Secretary Marshall. They recommended that Dulles should make the trip to Tokyo and this was approved by the President today.

Today's statement made clear that the reaffirmed decision of the Truman administration is to go through with a treaty. According to some estimates, the job can be completed by next fall—and there are predictions that it will be done without any participation by the Soviet Union.

The announcement said that Mr. Truman has designated Dulles as his special representative with the personal rank of ambassador "to conduct on behalf of the U. S. such further discussions and negotiations as may be necessary to bring a Japanese peace settlement to an eventual successful conclusion."

Three Injured As Auto Hits Embankment

Youths Treated At Hospital After Car Is Wrecked

Three Pettis County youths were severely cut and bruised, about 11:30 o'clock Friday night when the car they were riding in crashed into an embankment at the Overmeir turn on the Wingate road, about five miles southwest of Sedalia.

Driving the car was William "Bill" Thurman, 18, who was accompanied by his brother Robert "Bob" Thurman, 16, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Thurman of route 4, and J. W. "Dubbie" Yousse, Jr., 18, son of Mrs. Sallie Yousse, of route 4.

According to Thurman, they were heading for their homes and he evidently dozed, and did not realize he was as near the corner until too late. The car was moving west on the blacktop road and at the corner the gravel road begins. The automobile continued straight west dropped into a small drain ditch and nosed squarely into the earth bank and against a hedge fence.

Thurman, Sergeant William Barton of the State Highway Patrol stated, had been driving about fifty miles an hour just before the accident. The car was considered a practical loss. It was a 1946 Chevrolet sedan and belonged to Thurman's father.

Were Accorded Aid

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter, Chicago, Ill., who are visiting with Mr. Hunter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hunter, about a quarter of a mile south of the accident, were returning to the Hunter farm after attending the theatre and came upon the accident. Mr. Hunter said the car was so far into the ditch and hedge that he didn't notice it until he started to turn and a reflection of the lights appeared on the machine.

Mr. Hunter got out and went over to the car and found the boys in it. He told them he would get help and went on to his father's home and called the Sedalia Police and an ambulance, the operator connected Hunter with the police and Gillespie's at the same time and he gave the alarm. The police then notified the State Highway Patrol by radio, and then called for the Chamberlin wrecker.

In the meantime George Hunter a brother of Robert who went to the scene, returned to his home and obtained a tractor and went back and pulled the Chevrolet car back enough so the two boys, "Bill" Thurman and Yousse, who were pinned in the front seat, could be freed. Bob Thurman who was in the back seat was able to get out a rear door and he stayed in the Hunter car until removed to the hospital.

A Yellow Cab driven by Irvin "Butch" Yeager came upon the scene and Yeager took "Bob" Thurman in the taxi cab to the Bothwell hospital. A few minutes later "Bill" Thurman and Yousse were rushed to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance. Yousse was in shock and unconscious when removed from the car.

Dr. J. M. Rodeman and Dr. A. L. Walter attended the three boys. All of the boys suffered facial lacerations, Yousse and "Bill" Thurman both had lacerations on their heads, while Yousse had severe lacerations on his nose, besides suffering from shock.

Hospital Here Is Approved

Bothwell Gets Sanction From Surgeons' College

The John H. Bothwell Memorial hospital in Sedalia has again been approved by the American College of Surgeons, being one of 3,290 in the United States, Canada and a few other countries to receive such distinction. In 1940, approved hospitals by that body numbered 3,284. Eighty-nine other Missouri hospitals were approved.

The hospitals here listed as a general one has 100 beds and 22 bassinets. Its ownership is by the city, and its operation is through a board of trustees, Fred M. Lange is the president, J. B. Carlisle, M. D., chief of staff, and James Franks, superintendent.

Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the college, made the announcement.

The approved hospitals on the new list represent 82% of the hospitals of 25 beds and over which are under survey by the college. Approval is in two classifications—fully approved and provisionally approved—with 2,980 hospitals fully and 310 provisionally approved.

As recently announced by Dr. Arthur W. Allen of Boston, chairman of the board of regents, the American College of Surgeons is continuing and strengthening its program of Hospital Standardization which it has carried on for the past 35 years. Since the inauguration of the program in 1916, the college has expended more than $2,000,000 in the improvement of patient care in the hospitals of the United States and Canada.

A series of conferences is being held with the American Medical association, the American College of Physicians and the American Hospital association in the hope that a co-ordinated program may be developed. The regents, according to Dr. Allen, have every intention of continuing the Hospital Standardization program upon an expanded scale and even with deficit financing until a solution is found which is agreeable to the majority of the profession, and which is, above all, in the best interest of the public.

Required Standards

The standards for hospitals upon which approval is based include the following fundamental principles:

1. Modern physical plant, assuring the patient safety, comfort and efficient care.
2. Clearly defined organization, duties, responsibilities, and relations.
3. Carefully selected government board with complete and supreme authority.

4. Competent chief executive officer or administrator, well trained in all phases of hospital administration, with authority and responsibility to interpret and carry out the policies of the hospital as authorized by the governing board.

5. Adequate and efficient personnel, properly organized and competently supervised.

6. Organized medical staff of ethical, competent physicians and surgeons.

7. Adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities under competent medical supervision.

8. Accurate, complete medical records, readily accessible for research and follow-up.

9. Regular group conferences of the administrative staff and of the medical staff for reviewing activities and results so as to maintain a high plane of scientific efficiency.

10. A humanitarian spirit—the primary consideration being the best care of the patient.

Campaign In Fight On Polio

March of Dimes Drive Starts Here On January 15

Challenged by the most serious financial problem in 13 years of fighting polio, the annual March of Dimes this year will be conducted in Pettis county and throughout the nation during the two-week period from January 15 to 31, it is announced today by Scott Webber, county campaign director.

"Last year was the third successive year of unusually high polio incidence," Mr. Webber said, "with the result that our backlog of cases is steadily increasing. We must continue to help all those who need assistance and at the same time press forward our research program aimed at finding a means of preventing polio. It is a double-barrelled job and we will need a lot of help from everyone."

Committees Secured

Mr. Webber predicted this year's March of Dimes would be "the most intensive of its kind in local history." A full slate of March of Dimes committees has been drawn up in readiness for the two-week drive.

"Through the early organization of these committees," Mr. Webber said, "we now have the nucleus to build a great campaign for a great cause—the fight against infantile paralysis."

The committees and their respective chairmen are:

Director of women's activities, Mrs. Gib Owen; publicity, Harold W. Barwick; advance contributions, A. L. Bohling; labor, William Donath and R. C. McVey; sports, Jimmy Glenn; rural organizations, Bob Sherman; counter containers, Lloyd Phillips; lapel banks, James L. VanWagner, Jr. and Bill Wilson; theater activities, Mrs. James E. Durley; mile-o-dimes and theater collections, Beta Tau chapter of Beta Sigma Phi; Negro community, Prof. J. B. Hylick; schools, Jack Delph.

Mr. Webber said committee members are hard at work perfecting plans for the all-out drive against polio, starting a week from next Monday.

"The needs for funds this year is greater than ever before," Mr. Webber said. "The past two years alone cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis $47,000,000 in March of Dimes funds for patient care throughout the nation. A large portion of this vast sum went for payment of bills incurred in treating patients carried over from prior polio epidemics. There have been more than 100,000 cases since January 1, 1943.

"Knowing the need," Mr. Webber added, "our committee workers have planned a great variety of activities so every person in Pettis county will have an opportunity to contribute to the 1951 March of Dimes."

The Smithton team began to score and remained in the lead all during the game. The score at half time was 25-17 in favor of the Tigers team, but the Gremlins came back in the second half and cut the lead to four points, only to have the visitors pull away again. At the end of the third quarter the Gremlins were still trailing by eight points. The loss of Jim Labus and Kenny Jett on fouls hurt Sacred Heart's chances.

The Gremlins will participate in a tournament at Knob Noster next Thursday night.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Western powers are reported about to send a new note to Russia, pegging the whole prospect for a new four-power conference on the Kremlin's willingness to discuss the entire East-West conflict in broad Panama rather than confine the agenda to Germany alone as the Soviet suggested.

Pravda, the Kremlin's newspaper mouthpiece, has labelled this attitude, coupled with the general American feeling that nothing can come out of the talks, as an attempt to avoid a conference and to sabotage talks on Germany.

It seems more likely, however, that the United States, under pressure from its European partners and following its own long-standing policy of always keeping the door open for negotiations, is resigned to another ride on the conference merry-go-round.

The British empire nations have just agreed that the conference should be held, France is all for it, and, since Russia always seems willing to talk on any terms in order to have a forum for her propaganda, the meeting seems likely.

The Wall Street Journal suggests editorially that it might even pay to have the conference even if nothing but Germany is discussed. It cites the European estimate that Russia really means it when she says she will not tolerate rearmament of Western Germany by the allies, and the possibility that the Kremlin is motivated by an acute fear of what such rearmament would mean.

"Once you know what a man fears you have a lever to move him," the Journal adds. "You can cause him to act hurriedly and irrationally. You can also by different procedure cause him to back up. Is it not then within the realm of possibility that the Russians would give something not to have Germany armed? We don't know. We do suggest that it may be worth consideration."

It is interesting, but the trouble with all these hopes and discussions of deals with Russia, of course, is that if any did actually develop they wouldn't mean a thing. The only thing Russia has to give is an end to the cold war; and end to her religion-like program of world conquest for Communism; an end to Lenin-Stalinism. Anything less would merely represent another of Stalin's zig zags—withdrawals at one spot in the face of forceful opposition in order to strike later wherever weakness develops.

Russia is in the midst of a new and successful push. She can almost feel southeast Asia in her grasp, is sniffing at the door of the whole eastern part of the vast Eurasian continent. That she will make any important concession while she is winning is highly unlikely. She has no timetable. She must believe there will be no war as long as she avoids climactic provocation. She is in a position to dicker and maneuver with the utmost cynicism, and that is what she will do.

Two Convicts Escape Jail In Jeff City

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 11—(AP)—Two convicts, described by officers as "tough characters" escaped today from the Cole county jail.

The men, who last September escaped from the Missouri state penitentiary, are August Overbeck, 38, serving a life sentence from Greene county, and Virgil Melton, serving 12 years for robbery from Webster county.

The state highway patrol and sheriff's officers immediately set up roadblocks in an effort to head off the pair. The patrol said they fled in a 1938 motor car on which they had been working for a jail employee.

Last September both fled from the penitentiary assaulted a taxi-cab driver and forced him to drive them to Eldon, Mo., they were re-captured later and brought to the Cole county jail where they were awaiting trial on a prison breaking charge.

Overbeck entered the prison in 1943. Melton entered in 1934, but was released on bond a month later after he had been granted a new trial. He was returned to the prison in 1948 after serving a 12 years sentence at Leavenworth and Alcatraz on a federal bank robbery conviction.

Propose Lower Voting Age

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11—(AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to lower the Missouri voting age to 18 years was introduced in the state senate yesterday by Sen. John A. Johnson (D) of Ellington.

The proposal calls for submission of the question to the voters in the 1952 general election. A similar measure has already been introduced in the house.

Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood, president pro tem of the senate, announced membership of 25 standing committees during the 30-minute session. Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kennett again will head the powerful appropriations committee as he did last session.

New bills introduced would establish codes for evidence and for non-profit corporations and would raise the daily pay of state judges and court reporters when on assignment away from home.

3 Missourians Held In Kansas Burglary

MARION, Ill., Jan. 11—(AP)—State's attorney Charles Denham today filed charges of burglary against three Missouri men captured here by a filling station operator Tuesday night.

The operator, Bud Hill, surprised the men as they left his station and held them at gun point until police arrived.

Denham said the men admitted robberies in Hayes, Oakley and McPherson, Kansas; Benton, Ky., and Vienna, Ill.

The defendants are Albert Lee Spence, 33, Kansas City; Jack Albert Gardner, 25, Springfield, Mo., and Howard Smith, 27, Columbia, Mo.

Chief of Police Zora Buckner said $15 in coins from Hill's cash register was recovered from one of the trio.

Bridges Quits High GOP Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) resigned unexpectedly today as chairman of the Senate Republican campaign committee.

Bridges told a reporter he will make up his mind shortly whether to bid for a GOP vacancy on the Senate foreign relations committee which is being sought by Senator Tobey (R-NH) who generally supports administration foreign policy.

Bridges, a critic of administration moves in the Far East, outranks Tobey in length of Senate service, or seniority.

Earlier Republicans voted 29 to 10 in a party conference to continue the rule of making assignments to important committees on a seniority basis. This was done by rejecting a proposal aimed at giving new GOP senators a larger voice in Senate affairs.

Bridges said he gave up the campaign committee chairmanship, to which he was appointed earlier in the week, because he felt he couldn't undertake the additional work it involved. He is a member of the important appropriations and armed services committees.

Senator Millikin of Colorado, who heads the conference of all Republican senators, said he will name a new chairman, possibly tomorrow.

Sensors Dirksen of Illinois, a new member, and Mundt of South Dakota, also a first term, were mentioned as possible choices to succeed Bridges, who said he will remain on the committee.

The GOP conference decision upholding the seniority rule in committee assignments was announced by Millikin after a closed door meeting.

New Area For Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced plans today to test atomic weapons on a closely guarded bombing range in Nevada.

The experiments will mark the first nuclear explosions in the United States since the first A-bomb was tested in New Mexico in 1945.

The commission's announcement said President Truman has authorized it to use part of the 5,000-square mile bombing and gunnery range reservation of the Air Force near Las Vegas, Nev.

It added: "The use of the Las Vegas bombing and gunnery range will make available to the Los Alamos (N.M.) scientific laboratory a readily accessible site for periodic test work with a resultant speed-up in the weapons development program. Test activities at the new site will include experimental nuclear detonation for the development of atomic bombs—so-called A-bombs—carried out under controlled conditions.

"Full security restrictions of the atomic energy act will apply to the work at the new site and during the test periods the AEC section of the reservation will be closed to all persons except those directly connected with the experimental programs."

Soon Issue Order as to Manpower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—(AP)—Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg said today President Truman plans to issue a new "national manpower mobilization policy" within the next few days.

The woman assistant secretary of defense said the Presidential directive would ask industry, agriculture, military and civilian groups to conserve available manpower.

Mrs. Rosenberg, who was brought to the defense department as a manpower expert, mentioned the prospective new order at a Senate hearing in response to a question from Senator Stennis (D-Miss.) as to plans for draft deferment of young men engaged in farm work.

Stennis wanted to know whether sufficient young farm workers would be deferred to produce the increased food and farm crops that will be needed for the expanding mobilization program.

Mrs. Rosenberg did not elaborate to the senators on her statement and would give no details to reporters who questioned her later.

"Do Our Job Right"

She did say that in general the order will require that "we do our job and do it right."

She said that would involve each group viewing its own manpower needs against the overall needs of others.

Mrs. Rosenberg was before a Senate Armed Service subcommittee for further discussion on administration proposals to draft 18-year-olds into the armed services and set up a universal military training program. She and Secretary of Defense Marshall disclosed the plan to the committee yesterday.

Moore will be succeeded at West Point by Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, now deputy commander of the sixth army at San Francisco. Maj. Gen. Milton B. Halsey, now assistant chief of staff for operations for the army field forces headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va., will take Irving's place at San Francisco.

Work if Can is Welfare Aim

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 10—The State Welfare Division is telling its thousands of clients they should go to work if they possibly can.

The division is using the defense employment boom to trim the rolls. It sent out notices today to all persons getting aid to dependent children, telling them to take jobs if they can.

If the jobs cut off their state aid, the division promised, they will be restored to the rolls promptly when the jobs end.

Proctor N. Carter, state welfare director, said similar notices will be sent to those who get old age assistance and general relief. The number of those getting aid to dependent children already is shrinking as mothers go to work. December was the fifth straight month the total A.D.C. cost declined. Aid totaling $1,314,028 went to 62,432 children, 430 fewer than in November.

Forbids Clergy to Join Rotary

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 11—(AP)—Pope Pius XII has forbidden Catholic clergymen to join Rotary clubs or attend their meetings.

A decree of the supreme sacred congregation of the holy office—one of 11 congregations that govern Catholic church affairs—was published today in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, giving that directive. The pope is the perfect of the congregation.

The decree advised laymen against joining Rotary clubs, but did not expressly forbid them from doing so, Vatican sources said.

The decree, printed in latin, was drawn up at the December 20 meeting of the congregation in answer to queries on the subject. It said clergymen could not join the organization or attending its meetings.

Laymen, it added, should be exhorted to follow the dispositions of Canon law number 684, insofar as Rotary is concerned.

The church law to which laymen are referred by the decree states:

"Those faithful (members of the Catholic church) are worthy of praise who give their names to associations promoted by the church, or, at least, recommended by it. They (the faithful) should guard themselves, however, from secret associations (which are) condemned, seditious or suspected, or that seek to draw away from the legitimate vigilance of the church."

A source connected with L'Osservatore Romano suggested that the decree might not be intended to apply to laymen in Rotary organizations in the United States or certain other countries. "The man," this source said, "applies especially to European and Latin American countries where Rotary organizations have often closely supported Masonry, or have opposed the influence of the church."

No Comment By Club

In Chicago, headquarters of Rotary International said the news report of the ban was the first officials had heard of it. The club made no comment immediately.

Rotary describes itself as a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the practice of the "ideal of service," which it defines as "thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others." It says in its "fact sheet": "Rotary does not seek to supplant or to interfere with any religious or political organization. It assumes that its concepts are in accordance with all religions and it does not concern itself with a Rotarian's politics.

"Rotary expects him to be faithful to his religion and loyal to his citizenship."

Senate Given Grim Warning By Connally

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—(AP)—Senator Tom Connally of Texas told the Senate in a stormy debate on foreign policy today that in "two years or even less," Russia may be ready to challenge the United States in atomic warfare.

With that warning, Connally sparked a full-dress discussion that saw senators on both sides of the aisle wrangling over American troops commitments in Europe and Soviet Russia's intentions.

Demands Ike's Return

Senator Malone (D-Nev.) demanded that President Truman recall Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from Europe on the ground that the general's trip is being regarded as a pledge of "unlimited American support."

"If such a pledge has been made, then Congress has no knowledge of it," Malone said.

Eisenhower is now in Europe making a month-long survey of Western Europe's ability—and willingness—to defend itself with an international army under his command.

Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska announced he will ask the Senate on Monday to consider his resolution opposing the movement of any more U. S. troops to Europe until Congress passed on the subject.

Mr. Truman told his news conference this afternoon there is no question of his authority to send troops anywhere in the world. But he said he will consult with congressional leaders before he orders more U. S. soldiers to Europe.

In the Senate, two leading Republicans split on the issue of Mr. Truman's power.

Republicans Disagree

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a staunch advocate of keeping the bulk of American troops at home, conceded that the President has authority to commit troops in time of war.

But under the present circumstances, he said, the matter of committing American soldiers to foreign duty is "well within the power of Congress" to determine.

Sensor Lodge (R-Mass.) disagreed. He said the President already has the power to assign troops to the international army in Europe. The troops must go where the commander-in-chief sends them, Lodge said.

4 Hurt In Storm In California

SUNNYVALE, Calif., Jan. 11—(AP)—High wind, rain and hail hit the San Francisco bay area today, causing at least $1,700,000 damage and injuring four persons.

Worst hit was Sunnyvale, industrial town 40 miles south of San Francisco. Building Inspector Stanley Golas said the damage there would approximate $1,500,000.

The high wind, which reached 78 miles an hour at San Francisco airport, crumpled buildings not only at Sunnyvale but at San Jose near there, and also in communities north and east of San Francisco.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted—some of them in the Presidio at San Francisco—and power and telephone lines were snapped.

Husband, Son Given Lie Detector Tests In Ravanna Inquiry

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11—(AP)—The husband and son of Mrs. Beulah McDonald, who was shot fatally Saturday near Ravanna, Mo., were given lie detector tests today by Kansas City police.

So was Elvin Hunter, a friend of the McDonalds. He had told investigators he was hunting with Virgil McDonald, 37, the husband, and Dwayne McDonald, 16, the son, the afternoon the woman was shot.

Mrs. McDonald was found in an untenanted farmhouse with Vint McKay, 64, former Mercer county Presiding Judge. McKay had been beaten and shot to death.

The three men were brought here by state highway troopers, Mercer County Sheriff Clay George and Mercer County Prosecuting Attorney J. M. Donelson.

The McDonalds and Hunter refused to be photographed.

A coroner's jury ruled yesterday that Mrs. McDonald, 33, and McKay met death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Later Prosecutor Donelson said that the test demonstrated the three men had no guilty knowledge of the deaths of Mrs. McDonald or McKay.

The McDonalds and Hunter took the tests voluntarily.

They returned tonight to Princeton.

There Sheriff George said, "I don't know what to do next. I'm satisfied with the results of the lie detector tests. I'll keep on going."

Stephens College Club Will Meet Saturday
